Senate Votes to Continue Controls

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has passed 86 to 4 a bill permitting President Nixon to continue wage, price and rent controls through April, 1973.

The measure also contains a provision designed to give retroactive wage increases to most employees who lost them because of the Aug.-Nov. 14 pay freeze.

The Senate vote sent the legislation to the House where the Banking Committee was scheduled to meet again today in an effort to finish work on its version.

The panel failed on an 18-18 tie yesterday to clear the bill it had tentatively worked out. But various compromises were to be offered to break the deadlock.

Though the Senate rolled up an overwhelming vote for the bill, many members said they voted for it with great misgivings.

There was some confusion surrounding the retroactive pay feature—the major Senate addition to what Nixon originally said he wanted.

The administration resisted such increases during the freeze and has continued this stand since the Pay Board was established, despite organized labor's vociferous objections.

The Senate provision would allow raises negotiated before the Aug. 15 freeze so long as these were not "unreasonably inconsistent" with the 5.5 per cent guideline established by the Pay Board for Phase 2.

Sponsors said they wanted to make sure teachers and most others denied their raises would now receive them.

Late in the debate, the administration sent word it would accept this language; some senators speculated the White House was short of the votes needed to strike it from the bill and so decided to support retroactivity.

An AFL-CIO spokesman said labor lawyers were convinced the provision would obtain most of the retroactive raises labor is determined to get.

The House Committee has adopted a retroactive pay provision which the administration

The Senate bill also contains a section objected to by the White House which would give a 5.5 per cent pay raise to 1.5 million federal employees and 2.6 million military personnel.

Jan. 1. Nixon wants a delay to July 1 next year.

After a sharp fight Wednesday, the Senate adopted 50-36 an amendment by Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., to exempt from wage and price controls newspapers, press associations, television and radio broadcast, and magazine and book publishers.

Cranston said the provision was essential to preserve constitutional freedom of press and avoid possible "economic censorship."

Republican opponents of the amendment said it represented unjustified favoritism.

Meanwhile, in reducing a requested price hike from a coal company, the commission on Wednesday placed itself at odds with the Pay Board which recently okayed a 15 per cent wage and benefit increase for coal miners.

The decision also raised Commission Chairman C. Jackson Grayson to status as the dominant figure within President Nixon's apparatus for battling down inflation.

"This coal settlement was made after the wage guidelines were known," Grayson said in announcing that the Old Ben Coal Co., a subsidiary of Standard Oil of Ohio, would be allowed to pass along only 9.6 per cent of the wage hike.

From now on, Grayson said, the commission "will take a very careful look" at any request for a price hike based on wage settlements above the Pay Board's 5.5 per cent guideline.

Was he saying that firms which sign hefty wage contracts approved by the Pay Board are not yet "out of the woods" when they go before the Price Commission?

Grayson responded with a firm "yes."

In the case of Old Ben, the commission allowed a 3.78 per cent price increase. The firm had sought a 6.71 per cent hike.

Officials of the United Mine Workers said the commission's actions would have no effect on their newly negotiated contract.

Chaos, Confusion Seen

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Labor sources said today the Pay Board is beset by chaos and confusion, leaving the country in doubt about how to apply for wage increases.

"The Pay Board still has no detailed rules, regulations, procedures or forms," said one labor source on the 15-member panel. Another union official said that because of the situation the Internal Revenue Service, which enforces the wage controls, has been putting a rigid 5.5 per cent lid on pay raises, making no exceptions for unusual or inequitable situations.

The official said this "represents a substantial change in the procedures and policies of the Pay Board," which has said the 5.5 per cent yardstick is a general rule not necessarily to be applied in all cases.

"There's an air of chaos and utter confusion at the Pay Board," the labor official said. The source on the panel added that "there's utter confusion out across the country on how to file for wage increases and get them approved."

The Pay Board reportedly was studying a proposal that would exempt workers at all firms with fewer than 100 employees from wage controls, if the workers involved were not represented by a union or other collective bargaining agent. There was opposition to the idea, however, from some board members who felt that no segment of the economy should have a blanket exemption.

The under-100 exemption would not include construction workers, whose wage hikes still are subject to the construction industry stabilization committee set up in April.

The coal industry, meanwhile, protested Wednesday's Price Commission decision to allow the Old Ben Coal Co., a subsidiary of Standard Oil of Ohio a 3.78 per cent price increase instead of the 6.71 per cent hike the firm requested.

"If, with one hand, the government has approved a wage contract, another hand of government cannot legitimately compel the industry to operate at a loss," said Carl E. Begge, president of the National Coal Association. "If the formula issued today by the Price Commission as we now understand it is applied industry-wide, it will impair the ability of the coal industry to meet the critical energy needs of the nation."

Ellenville Library Loses in Close Vote

By WADE BURKHART

ELLENVILLE — Ellenville School District voters narrowly turned down a proposed $740,000 bond issue to finance a new building for the Ellenville Public Library and Museum, but the president of the library said he was undismayed by the Wednesday night vote.

The final totals were 682 no votes to 600 yes, with 33 votes ruled void. Total votes cast were 1315, with 1316 registered on the books.

Anthony Percoco, the library's president said he felt "pretty good" about the closeness of the vote, and said "considering the times" the proposal had done very well.

Percoco said the issue would be brought before the people again as quickly as possible. The Library board must petition the Ellenville Board of Education to hold another vote, as the school district has the final approval of money matters for the library and is charged with raising the library's operating funds by taxation.

If the library board secures approval from the school board to bring the matter up for another vote, there would have to be the proper legal advertising, but Percoco said he hoped to have the matter before the voters again in less than two months.

Ellenville School District Clerk Sol Sashin said the 1315 vote total was "an unusually heavy vote" on a library matter, especially considering the time of year and the cold inclement weather.

This was one of the few defeats suffered by the Ellenville Library. The facility is a popular one, and it has not suffered a budget defeat since 1964, when the budget lost by some 14 votes but was handily approved on a second vote. The library budget has consistently received higher percentages of voter approval than the school budget, and was approved when the district suffered budget defeats in 1965 and this past summer.

The library and museum is presently housed in the Women's Christian Temperance Union Building on Canal Street.

The bond issue would, if approved, cover the construction costs, site work, landscaping, fees, and furnishings for the new building.

THERE'S MORE TO DO...GIVE MORE TO CHRISTMAS SEALS

The property on which it is proposed the new building be located has been donated by the Resnick family for use for a new library. It is the parking area currently used for the Motor Museum and is bordered on three sides by Center, Childs and Canal Streets. If built, the building would be known as the Joseph Y. Resnick Memorial Building, in honor of the congressman.

The cost to the individual taxpayer in the Town of Wawarsing was computed by the library board to be a maximum of $4.40 per $1,000 assessed valuation. This would decrease if a favorable interest rate could be secured, or if the assessed valuation of the town increases.

The library board said the Wednesday night proposal was the "culmination of more than 25 years of research, investigation, and utilization of temporary measures to alleviate the crippling shortage of space." According to the board, the present facilities are only one-fourth the size needed to properly serve the community.

Happy Ending to Freeman Story, Welfare Has Another Problem

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON — The Ulster County Department of Social Services, within 24 hours after a Daily Freeman story on Monday revealed that a welfare mother and her ten children had been living at the Gov. Clinton Hotel at county expense, found a home for that family.

Mrs. Thelma Davis and her children have left the Gov. Clinton, where it was costing the county $450 a week, for a 10-room house on Abeel Street. The daily rent at the hotel was $40. The monthly rent at Abeel Street will be $220. All parties, including Mrs. Davis and the Ulster County Community Action Committee, which first brought the situation to the attention of The Freeman, are "happy the way things turned out."

Meanwhile, a similar situation has developed with the family of Mrs. Alberta Longhi, which estimated to be in the neighborhood of $400.

Mrs. Longhi and her family, age from one to 17 years old, were scheduled to be moved from the St. James Motel today "on emergency basis" by the Social Services Department, at the St. James Motel off Route 9W since mid-September. The Paliz. Edward Brown, director of the Rondout Community Action Center, who was at the St. James Motel last night to assist the Longhi family, told The Freeman today that the move would be to New Paltz, in the opinion of community action leaders was "unsatisfactory."

Harold Larsen, director of the county social services for the county doesn't like the idea either. "The cost is much more than we like to pay," Larsen said. "But we have to provide for these people. Moving them into a hotel or resort is definitely a last resort."

State Funding Now Doubtful For Esopus Flood Project

By JON POWERS

KINGSTON — The Esopus Creek Flood Control Project in Kingston's Uptown Urban Renewal Area may have to survive without state funding, The Freeman learned today.

It is estimated that the project will cost $1,270,000. The federal government can pay only $1 million of that amount, leaving the state's share at already received the approval of $270,000.

Kingston may not see that of money. A spokesman for the Department of Environmental Conservation in Albany pointed to the state's fiscal problems and the moratorium on new contracts, and said, "We probably couldn't get the money."

The project includes construction of a levee along the Esopus Creek behind the Kingston Shopping Plaza. It had already received the approval of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and the Department of Environmental Conservation. Bids for phase one of the project are expected to be let soon.

According to James Kelly, a virtually ruled out earlier by the spokesman for the Department of Environmental Conservation, R. Koenig and Urban Renewal Director James G. Connors.

Connors told The Freeman that he has received no indication that the state might not come through with its $270,000. The burden may end up on the shoulders of the federal government. The Esopus Creek plan is now regarded as a "Small Flood Control Project" meaning that it may be authorized by the Chief of the Army Corps of Engineers. The one catch is that he cannot authorize expenditures over $1 million.

Council Set to Elect Leaders

KINGSTON (D-11th Ward) is the majority leader now, a post he had held for the past four years. Norton is a candidate for reelection but choose their respective leaders for 1972-73. The Democrats enjoy a 9-4 majority.

Edward T. Feeney, Republican city chairman, told The Freeman that he would meet with the Council's four Republicans, Brian D. Smith (Third Ward), Thomas M. Davitt (Seventh Ward), Edmond J. Roux (Ninth Ward) and Titus B. Sims (13th Ward), at the Council meeting on Dec. 7 to discuss and probably elect the new minority leader. The present minority leader, John L. Machione of the Second Ward, was not reelected this year. Smith, Sims and Roux are beginning their second terms in the Council. Davitt is a freshman alderman.

On the Democratic side, Alderman-at-Large T. Robert Gailo, said the majority party would caucus the week of Dec. 6, after the Council meeting, to elect a leader for the next two years.

Alderman Edward M. Norton

also receive an additional $350 per year in salary. They are paid $2,500 per year while the other 11 aldermen are paid $2,150.

The majority leader is the number three man in city government and presides over the Common Council in the absence of the alderman-at-large. The majority and minority leaders are also accorded the honor of escorting the mayor to the council Chambers on New Year's Day for his annual Mayor's Message. The race between Mancuso and Norton, the two senior members of the Common Council in point of service, both of the Democrats, five, and for being elected in 1963, is expected to be a close one. Norton has chaired both major committees of the Council, first, Laws and Rules and, for the past two years, Finance, Ways and Means. Mancuso is a former chairman of the Finance Committee and now serves on the Laws and Rules Committee. A majority vote, in the case of the Democrats, five, and for the Republicans, four, is required to elect political leaders of the Common Council.

GIFT FOR BOCES — The Ulster County Board of Cooperative Educational Services has received a donation of data processing equipment from Colony Liquor Distributors Inc. V. J. Andretta Sr. (R) president of the firm in making the presentation to Michael M. Aronica, director of vocational education for BOCES, said the value of the equipment is $26,000. Aronica termed the donation a literal windfall, a generous donation, but most important, a giant step toward improvement of the data processing curriculum. (Freeman photo by Haines).

BOCES Meetings in Full Swing

NEW PALTZ The informational meetings being conducted throughout the county by officials of Ulster County Board of Cooperative Educational Services are in full swing.

Response has been "encouraging" according to Dr. Jack L. Roosa, executive officer of BOCES. To date, seven meetings have been held to explain the proposed Vocational Education and Special Education Center and three more are planned for next week.

The Ulster County BOCES has completed preliminary plans for the area center which would replace the present rented facilities which are inadequate and in scattered locations. The proposed area center will be constructed in Bloomington on Route 32 between Rosendale and Kingston. Instruction will be available for county high school students in 35 occupational areas. Special education will be available for elementary and secondary students in five different program areas in order to meet the special needs of the retarded and handicapped students.

Dr. Roosa said the BOCES officials had been "encouraged in their journeys" around the county outlining the proposals. He said that they had found "pretty good support" in all areas where they have detailed BOCES story and its future plans.

Informational meetings next week will be held at Wallkill on Tuesday; Onteora High School, Wednesday and Kingston, Thursday. Interested parents and residents of the school districts are urged to attend the meetings, Dr. Roosa said. The BOCES panel will answer questions at the conclusion of the formal presentation.

Estimated cost of the proposed center is $7.5 million for land, building, and equipment. Of this amount $500,000 will be from federal funds with $4 million in state education building aid. The remaining $3 million plus interest costs will be the local share which will mean a tax increase of 84 cents per thousand dollars of true value.

A county-wide public referendum will be held Jan. 19 on the proposal.

Modena, Plattekill Firemen Battle House, Garage Blaze

MODENA Firefighters from Modena and Plattekill were hampered by ice that formed on them and equipment this morning as they fought flames that gutted a wood frame house on the Sunny Acres Road in this community.

Fifty firemen in command of Chief George Dougherty battled the blaze in sub-freezing weather. No injuries were reported.

The family who occupied the residence was not identified, but all left the burning house parked.

without incident, officials said. A member of the family was awakened shortly after 3:35 a.m. by smoke and heat of the flames, and others in the house were awakened and all left scantily clothed.

Chief Dougherty said firemen chopped holes in ice that coated the surface of two ponds about 600 feet away and two streams of water were pumped into the roaring flames that burned the interior of the house and spread to a garage in which a car was parked.

Dougherty reported the fire is believed to have started in the cellar in the furnace area and then burned up into the rooms. The origin of the blaze was not determined.

"The men did an excellent job," Dougherty said, "although they had considerable trouble with ice forming on them and the equipment."

During the blaze, Cronomer Valley Fire Company from building aid. The remaining $3 Orange County covered up the Plattekill firehouse, and Gardner moved equipment and men into the Modena district to stand by.

Dougherty reported firemen were back in service after 8 a.m.

FLAG FOR SCHOOL — Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr. presents flag, which has flown over United States Capitol in Washington to Sister Celia Dincher, principal of Kingston Catholic Primary School. Also on hand for the presentation were pupils Robin Scutt and Mary Agnes Berardi. (Freeman photo by Haines).

Officials Set For Meeting

KINGSTON — The officials talking about what they might like, we will spend the entire time talking about what those present want to discuss," Fish said.

Present plans call for the meeting to run from 1 to 4 p.m., but should it prove necessary to continue the meeting to a later hour, we will do that, too," Congressman Fish said.

According to Fish, the idea of the meeting was generated by him, "due to a number of complaints I have had from local businessmen and bankers about the difficulty in dealing with the Small Business Administration. It is my hope that through the give and take involved in a question and answer program, better understanding of the Agency's many programs will be developed, as well as the needs of our area will be come better known to Agency officials," Congressman Fish said.

"Although I have made every effort to invite businessmen in the area, due to the incompleteness of any list I have, I know that many businesses have not received such notices. I want to stress that every businessman, or anyone having an interest in Small Business Administration programs is then throw the meeting open to questions, so that rather than

New Claims Filed In Ulster County

KINGSTON — A spokesman for the Unemployment Office said the rise in unemployment insurance claims last month was due in large part to layoffs in the local construction business. Layoffs normally occur at this time of the year, "it was noted, "because of the onset of cold weather."

The number of applications for unemployment insurance totaled 8,050 in September, but that figure dropped to 7,571 in October.

Esopus Town Board Schedules Hearing

PORT EWEN — wondering if we can afford to do without it (the sewer district)."

It is estimated that the sewer district will cost each Esopus homeowner a maximum of $95 per $1,000 assessed valuation.

About 35 people attended Tuesday's informational meeting, which lasted for several hours. "The trend appears to be in favor of a sewer district," said Freer after the meeting.

Freer noted that the first step after January's planned public hearing will be to approve the formation of the sewer district, so that the town can determine the amount of state aid that will be available. If the amount is not satisfactory, the district will be abandoned at no cost to the taxpayers.

National Historic Registry Looms for Old City Hall

WASHINGTON, D.C. Kingston's old city hall at 408 Broadway could be officially added to the National Registry for Historic Places by the end of the year, John Barry, congressional representative to Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr., told The Freeman today.

Barry said that city hall's nomination by the New York State Historic Trust to the National Registry has been received in Washington. Dr. William Murtagh, chairman of the National Registry, informed Congressman Fish's office of the arrival of the Kingston application on Tuesday. "It's strictly a technical thing now," Barry told The Freeman. "It's basically a case of paper shuffling on the federal level. All the judgement factors have gone into it before it arrives here. Dr. Murtagh said approval could come within the next two to four weeks."

Placement on the National Registry would mean that no federal funds could be used for the demolition of city hall. Kingston has made extensive use of federal funds on a two-thirds (federal), one-third ratio in its city-wide program of demolition of vacant, condemned buildings over the past four years. It also means that the federal government could make available up to 50 per cent of the cost of acquiring the building by any group interested in preserving its "architectural integrity." The city of Kingston present owners of the building, would not qualify under that program, Barry added. Funding would only apply for someone purchasing the building.

That possibility was the key topic of discussion at a public hearing on city hall held by the Kingston Historic Landmarks Preservation Commission on Monday night.

The Commission wants to save the building but at the same time wants to see it serve a useful purpose in the future.

The city of Kingston will vacate the old city hall early next year for its new city hall in Broadway East. Mayor Francis R. Koenig indicated his support of the designation of the old city hall as an historic landmark when questioned by The Freeman, but said that "not one cent of taxpayers' money" would be put in it for renovation.

The Landmarks Preservation Commission did not designate city hall a city historic site at that Monday night public hearing. Rather, arrangements were made for a meeting between members of the commission and members of the Common Council to further discuss the future of the building.

The commission is headed by Fred Johnston but Dr. Charles A. Galyon, vice chairman, will chair the commission's discussions with the city as Johnston will be in Florida for the rest of the winter.

Hobart Jury Fails in Eight Count Verdict Attempt

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — A month-long trial of four persons charged last year ended Wednesday with the jury failing to deliver a verdict on eight of nine charges.

The State Supreme Court panel reached agreement only in acquitting all four defendants of a count of "intense" rioting.

The two days of deliberations drew to a close when jury foreman, L. Aton Baker, told Jus-ice Frederick M. Marshall the chances of reaching a verdict were "remote."

Marshall thanked the nine men and three women for their efforts in the "long and difficult" trial, then dismissed them, saying he would schedule a new trial on the eight pending counts sometime after Jan. 1.

The four on trial were Raphael Martinez, 38, of Rochester; Gilbert Dillon, 22, of New Brunswick, N.J.; Clarence Youngs, 20, and Melanie Wallace, 22, both of the Bronx.

The questions the next jury will be asked to resolve are whether Martinez was guilty of three counts of coercion and two counts of reckless endangerment, and whether all four were involved in "reckless" riot and obstruction of governmental administration.

Most of the 52 witness in the trial described events of June 5, 1970, when police tried to arrest five persons on the Geneva campus in a drug raid. Before they could drive off with the suspects, hundreds of students surrounded three patrol cars, and refused to move until police agreed to release the persons in custody and grant them amnesty.

One of the officers held virtual prisoner inside a car was undercover agent Thomas "Tommy the Traveler" Tongyai, who the defense claimed had tried to foment violence on the campus while posing as a leftist organizer.

A juror told newsmen that some of the panelists had been all were interrelated," he commented.

The jury interrupted deliberations four times to ask for guidance from Marshall and John R. Krause Jr., 33, a political science instructor, and Bruce L. Davis, 22, a Hobart senior, are accused of rioting, coercion, reckless endangerment and obstruction of governmental administration.

Court Orders Attica Abuse Injunction

NEW YORK (AP) — Attica State Prison officials have been told by a court to quit subjecting inmates to further "physical abuse."

The U.S. Court of Appeals on Wednesday ordered U.S. Dist. Judge John T. Curtin of Buffalo to issue the injunction after finding that some correction officers had committed "barbarous abuse and mistreatment" of prisoners following the September rebellion at the prison.

It said correction authorities had acted "beyond any force needed to maintain order" and had subjected inmates to nighttime harassment, racial slurs and threats, as well as physical violence.

The appeals court, in a unanimous 40-page decision, ruled that officers used unnecessary force on prisoners for several days after state police regained control of the riot-torn facility where 43 persons were killed.

"Mistreatment of the inmates in this case to cruel and unusual punishment in violation of their Eight Amendment rights... which be enjoined where there is danger of recurrent violation," the decision said.

A spokesman for State Corrections Commissioner Russell G. Oswald said no comment on the ruling would be forthcoming until the Commissioner had a chance to read the decision.

The appeals court said Curtin, who previously denied the injunction, heard extensive testimony that injured prisoners were "struck, prodded or beaten," while others "were forced to strip and run naked through gauntlets of guards armed with clubs."

"There was testimony that hand in hand with the physical violence upon the inmates went threats of death or further brutality," the decision.

The court also ordered Curtin to consider any steps necessary to implement the injunction, including the appointment of federal monitors at the prison.

Speedy Trial Prohibition Is Sought

NEW YORK (UPI)—A bill will be introduced during the next session of the state legislature aimed at prohibiting the state Judicial Conference's new "speedy trial" rules, state Sen. Abraham Bernstein, D - Bronx, said Wednesday.

Bernstein spoke following testimony by two former Supreme Court justices at the Joint Legislative Committee on Crime hearings, chaired by himself and Assemblyman Arthur O. Eve, D-Buffalo.

Eve said he was not sure if he would join Bernstein in supporting such legislation. "I don't know enough about it yet," he said. "I'm not a lawyer and that's why I'm here."

Under the new rules adopted by the Judicial Conference and designed to eliminate overcrowded court calendars, all defendants in jail must be brought to trial within three months; while defendants out on bail must be tried within six months. If the defendant is not tried within these time limits, the court is required to dismiss all charges.

Retired Supreme Court Justice Miles McDonald said the "speedy trial rules" would eliminate "plea bargaining," which he said constitutes 90 per cent of all criminal cases in Kings County Supreme Court where he served as administrative judge.

"Nobody's going to plea," McDonald said at the hearing, "and if nobody pleads, the wheels of justice in this city will grind to a halt within 48 hours."

Crime's Accomplices

A national magazine recently pictured the travail of residents of New York City, showing how they have been forced literally to imprison themselves in their apartments behind barred windows and double, triple- or quadruple-locked doors.

Even so, most of them have experienced break-ins despite their most elaborate precautions.

At about the same time, a newspaper in the same city described the problems of the residents of one fashionable street in the East 70s—specifically, the problem of finding parking spaces for their cars, as well as finding the cars themselves if they were left unwatched for any length of time.

New York, fortunately, is unlike any other place in the country. Yet the crime problem its citizens must contend with, while larger than that of any other city simply because New York is larger, is the same kind of crime problem more and more Americans are beginning to worry about and to know first-hand, even in small towns.

And there is a very startling truth which can be read between the lines in both these articles:

Just as there must be two dishonest people for any confidence game to work—the con man and his greedy victim—those who pillage apartments or steal cars or hijack trucks or rob stores would be stuck with their goods, which they really have no use for, were there not someone willing to buy their merchandise at an attractive discount.

Unlike confidence-game crime, however, there is usually a third party involved in robbery and burglary—the fence, who is the middleman between the criminal and the supposedly honest citizen.

Throw in crooked cops, incompetent judges and revolving-door prisons and you have the ingredients of what is called the "crime problem."

How much simpler it would be if all we had to worry about about were the criminals.

Amchitka's Aftermath

Two weeks after the Amchitka Island-Cannikin nuclear test, which some feared was to start a devastating earthquake and create tidal waves that would destroy the Pacific shores east and west, the Atomic Energy Commission has racked up the toll. The explosive force of the blast, equivalent to five million tons of TNT, killed hundreds of fish, 18 sea otters, four seals and 16 birds.

We don't want to be unkindful of the lives of a few hundred fish and the sea otters, seals and birds that were lost. But they are hardly the fearful earth shaking happening that were forecast by scientists, hippies and politicians, here, in Canada, Hawaii and in Japan.

The AEC has already started to drill 6,000 feet down to the cavity created by the blast, to take samples of the radioactive debris. Preliminary examination of the record indicated that the desired information—the precise determination of the radiation, especially X-rays, produced by the explosion, was secured. It emphasized that "there has been no detectable release of radioactivity to marine or surface environment as a result of Cannikin."

There might be some argument over whether this test was worth the $200 million it cost. But the AEC was right about everything else concerning it, and we are willing to concede it was right to spend that much money to prove its prototype warhead for the Spartan antimissile system before deployment in 1974. We must be sure the system will be able to protect us from foreign attack, and this test has proved it has the power to do so. We must do all we can to prevent an extremely high loss of American lives.

into a corner during last April's tax rush and forgotten. Thirty-four hundred taxpayers had to suffer unjustly as they were accused of tax delinquency.

WASHINGTON—A new official count, made at our request, reveals that federal agencies now have on hand $395 million worth of brand new equipment they cannot use.

The figure is believed to be an all-time high, and the Pentagon, not surprisingly, heads the waste parade with about 85 per cent of the total.

The current inventory of unused and unneeded material makes a bizarre shopping list. It includes, for example, something called a "hinge assembly" for an aircraft engine. Cost: $69,800.

Military storerooms also hold millions of dollars worth of costly and elaborate electrical and radio equipment and countless spare parts for cancelled and outdated equipment.

In other lines, our military haberdashers presently have in stock 19,200 pairs of newly tailored camouflage pants. With our soldiers departing the Asian jungles, however, camouflage duds are no longer in fashion. Still more distinctive are camouflage pants designed for use in the snow. These were purchased, presumably, in case we needed to put down a polar bear rebellion in Antarctica. There are 38,000 pairs of these down-under pants, worth $187,000.

Fortunately for the American taxpayers, the unused new supplies are offered to other government agencies by the General Services Administration—which, incidentally, conducted the inventory for us.

Much of the military gear, however, finds no takers. Result: The growing accumulation of new but worthless supplies has become the world's costliest junk pile.

Naked General
"I feel like the Emperor who paraded before the public without clothes," said the general. "We're still showing the flag around the world, but we've lost our clothes."

He told us the Army is now stretched so thin that it provides merely an empty show of power. From the Berlin Wall to the Korean demarcation line, he said, the Army is understrength, overofficered and poorly trained.

VIETNAM—The Army has only one combat-ready division remaining in Vietnam. Its troops have lost the heart to fight, are interested only in going home. Earlier fears of an American Dunkirk, however, have largely vanished. The North Vietnamese haven't infiltrated enough men and material to launch a major offensive against the withdrawing Americans.

KOREA—The lone division in South Korea is far below strength, short of supplies and, like the GIs in Vietnam, marking time. However, the demarcation line is manned largely by tough but under-equipped Koreans.

EUROPE—Except for a small reaction force, the four U.S. divisions in Europe are critically below strength. Even division for division, they would be no match for Russia's rugged, mobile divisions.

HAWAII—The 25th Division in Hawaii, for all practical purposes, is down to one brigade.

UNITED STATES—At home, only the First Cavalry division and 82nd Airborne division are up to strength and ready for action. The remaining two divisions and ragtag units are understrength and under-equipped.

On paper, the Army is supposed to have 13 divisions. But most of them are just that—paper divisions. Nor is the manpower shortage the most serious problem. Most of the divisions are disorganized and demoralized. Privates have been getting out of the Army as fast as they can, leaving a surplus of officers and noncoms.

Worse, most divisions are plagued by drug abuse, racial tensions, poor discipline and, in some cases, outright lawlessness. As his solution for these problems, General William Westmoreland, the Army chief, has ordered everybody to get a haircut.

Humphrey's Mistake
Hubert Humphrey's advisors firmly believe he would be President today if he had followed a plan they presented to him on the eve of his presidential nomination in 1968.

The plan, spelled out in a handwritten memo, had the endorsement of Democratic National Chairman Larry O'Brien. Until now, only a few intimates knew the story.

The memo proposed that Humphrey make a dramatic appearance before the Democratic convention immediately after his nomination. That he would resign as Vice President and fly to Massachusetts to ask Sen. Ted Kennedy to be his running mate.

The memo contended that Humphrey, thereby, could cut himself free of then-President Lyndon Johnson and win back the Kennedy liberals. Humphrey turned down the plan, a judgement, he now looks back upon as a fatal mistake.

KING SIZE BEDS ARE A LOT OF BUNK

Everything they see here, plus our blind courting of a "world opinion" abroad which is never defined, adds to their conviction.

What should our course be? We should neither flatter world opinion nor flaunt it. The first error is meaningless. The second is reckless. World opinion in its honest form has its value and even its power. To flout it against us can be painful among our allies and helpful in the hands of our enemies. But we must always be willing to risk this when justice and our vital American interests are at stake.

It is simply too bad that Senate Foreign Relations Committee Chairman J. William Fulbright has his world visibility instead of the obscurity from which it is a pity he ever emerged.

UN Peacekeeping

WASHINGTON Another Vietnam fiasco could emerge on the India-Pakistan border in Asia, but this time the United Nations has an opportunity to show the world that it has the means of preventing such a grave crisis from developing.

Already the Soviet Union has stated that it is supporting India with arms. Red China has disclosed that it is sending money and military supplies to Pakistan. Without the help of these two major powers, there could be no big war. Thus, the United Nations, if it doesn't act, will be permitting a new war on the Asian continent which could spread to other lands. Pakistan has requested that a U.N. observer group be sent to East Pakistan, a move which the United States approves.

India is supporting insurgents in East Pakistan where fighting has begun. The representative of Red China at the United Nations openly emphasizes to the press what his government is doing to help the Pakistan government. In a public announcement recently, also, it was revealed that a treaty had been signed between the Soviet Union and the Government of India assuring supplies of arms and other aid.

Here is a situation in which the United Nations should be able to exercise its influence effectively. Peacekeeping forces have been established in the past which have acted in behalf of the U.N. in maintaining peace. There is no reason why such an armed unit should not be set up now to be sent to East Pakistan to discourage any further fighting.

Coincidentally, the question arises as to whether the Soviet Union and Red China should continue to supply military aid to India and Pakistan when it would be more useful if the same funds were given instead to the United Nations for its peacekeeping mission.

When war broke out in Korea in 1950, the United Nations organized an army to handle the situation, and various members of the U.N. contributed troops as well as supplies. If the conflict becomes extensive, members of the U.N. could cooperate in paying the cost of a peacekeeping operation. When it is thoroughly understood throughout the world that the United Nations will promptly send a peacekeeping unit to avoid the spread of war through revolutions and other hostile movements, there will be less chance of military action developing in the future from which large wars could ensue. If the U.N. had acted, for instance, in the case of Vietnam, there never would have been as long a war as the world has witnessed. Indeed, the U.N. could have halted the flow of military supplies from the Soviet Union and Red China as well as the United States to the belligerents while a peacekeeping force enabled the South Vietnamese to set up their own form of government, just as happened with South Korea. This would have saved America an enormous expense and tens of thousands of lives.

The United States has not participated in the current India-Pakistan controversy, though some arms have been purchased by both sides from the United States in the past. If a war of any size occurred, undoubtedly military supplies would be sought from this country, through these trans-actions now are banned.

Today the United Nations not only could help to prevent a war between Pakistan and India, but could avert a conflict in the Middle East by using peacekeeping forces to restrain Egypt and Israel. No resolutions, however, proposing such a course have been adopted, and the U.N. has not intervened in any dispute since its peace efforts on Cyprus and in Africa—which, incidentally, were successful.

If world opinion insisted that the U.N. exercise its powers, and if numerous governments were willing to support positive action to prevent war, there would be a big advance toward world peace. For certainly the major powers which at present supply money or munitions to smaller countries then could hardly be retained as members of the U.N. if they continued to give military help to nations planning wars or already engaged in fighting them.

The United Nations was created for the purpose of maintaining peace in the world. Refusal by any of the governments to endorse programs for peace and adopt the peacekeeping plan of the U.N. would hurt their prestige. Trade relationships would be adversely affected, and the countries, which decline to listen to pleas for peace would find themselves losing the friendship of many nations throughout the world.

Henry J. Taylor Says

Overemphasis on Opinion

Irrespressible Senate Foreign Relations Committee Chairman J. William Fulbright, a fast publicity hound on any track, is pontificating again about "world opinion," which is never defined. And in this Mr. Fulbright echoes the worldwide Reds who talk "world opinion"—"world opinion"—"world opinion" as if they had piano rolls in their heads.

Mr. Fulbright flies "world opinion" memoranda into the State Department like paper airplanes, scaring everybody who overrates him. But it is inexcusable, naive and dangerous for us to default anywhere on the American interest—especially our strategic interest—because of fear of being criticized in "world opinion." Those planning America's defeat systematically taunt us whenever we do anything in America's interest, and this taunt is part and parcel of their planning.

Surely, Mr. Fulbright should know that our Soviet enemy plays this "world opinion" game against us to the hilt. A permanent Soviet department, which stands for "dezinformatsiya, literally the "Disinformation Bureau," is headquartered in a gray stone building on Moscow's Dzhirzhinsky Square. From there this immense bureau hits us with systematized "world opinion"—propaganda, trumped-up street demonstrations etc., as it contrives to do throughout the free world. Then the fellow-travelers and many innocent but muddled-headed people multiply the effect. This the impact is cumulative.

The situation has three things in common with an oil well: it keeps producing something, stinks unbelievably, and nobody knows its source or its potential.

The over-all result has been decisive in some of our most ghastly and irredeemable defeats. And in this Mr. Fulbright must bear his full share of the blame.

For example, issuing tremulous warnings about "world opinion," Mr.

Fulbright opposed from the beginning any U.S. intervention whatever against Castro. When he learned that even a trickle of U.S. intervention was moving toward the Bay of Pigs he, among others, insisted that the White House stop it, and rejoiced in the shabby deed when the air cover over the beachhead was withdrawn.

Moreover, even on the intervention's "world opinion" angle Mr. Fulbright was as wrong as a summer oyster. Latin Americans overwhelmingly agree that in Latin America we are not blamed for the intervention, but instead, for allowing the intervention to fail.

Or consider the United Nations where again and again Mr. Fulbright was wrong as a summer oyster. We know we're saying everywhere, "What are we in danger of losing?"—not "What are we gaining?"

Such "world opinion" disciples as Mr. Fulbright can gaze smugly at this "world opinion" will-o-the-wisp and wrap a sanctimonious toga around themselves. But it does not fit. When "world opinion" derails the American interest we who are the victims are the victims of a mere cliché. It is utterly insane for us to fall for it.

The Kremlin masters calculate that America is up for grabs. From my own contacts with Soviet leaders I can assure you they assume our current American life style is soft, overindulgent, essentially decadent. They are convinced it is no longer fashionable for America to be tough on the militant malcontents, the declared revolutionaries, the subversives or even on convicted criminals in our prisons—and all under laws that are construed in favor of the anarchists.

They are convinced that in due course, this country we love and that so many heroes have died for will fall apart;

a push here, a shove there and it will all reach the point of collapse—with calculated violence and the threats of racial and other terrors to help it.

Everything they see here, plus our blind courting of a "world opinion" abroad which is never defined, adds to their conviction.

What should our course be? We should neither flatter world opinion nor flaunt it. The first error is meaningless. The second is reckless. World opinion in its honest form has its value and even its power. To flout it against us can be painful among our allies and helpful in the hands of our enemies. But we must always be willing to risk this when justice and our vital American interests are at stake.

It is simply too bad that Senate Foreign Relations Committee Chairman J. William Fulbright has his world visibility instead of the obscurity from which it is a pity he ever emerged.

BERRY'S WORLD

"Democratic system very simple. In old days, no free elections. Now, we ELECT ruler. One candidate runs—one candidate wins!"

Communist Onslaught Forces Abandonment of Key Towns

PHNOM PENH (UPI)—A force of 20,000 Cambodian troops abandoned two key towns north of Phnom Penh today in the face of a North Vietnamese onslaught and fled with 5,000 civilians on foot and in trucks under a rain of Communist rocket and mortar fire.

Collapse of the government positions at the towns of Baray and Kompong Thom, 66 and 72 miles north of Phnom Penh on Highway 6, dealt a major blow to the Cambodian government's efforts to blunt the Communists' dry season offensive. U.S. fighters and bombers were called in to destroy tanks and other war material abandoned by the Cambodians so the arms would not fall into the hands of the Communists. The Cambodians had called for more U.S. air support earlier this week but it failed to halt the red drive. The retreat left 25 miles of Highway 6 in Communist hands and there was speculation the whole road to the north would have to be abandoned, thus cutting off Phnom Penh from the major city of Kompong Thom in the north.

Baray and Kompong Thom were the second and third major areas to fall into Communist hands in the current North Vietnamese offensive. Romlong, six miles to the south of Baray, fell late in October with the loss of more than 400 troops.

Meanwhile, in Saigon, the U.S. command today reported nine Americans were killed and 78 wounded in the war in Vietnam last week for the highest battle death toll in two months.

Command spokesmen gave no reason for the sharp rise in combat losses, which came after the casualty toll in the previous two weeks had been reported as the lowest in six years, reflecting the rapid withdrawal of U.S. forces.

Battle-inflicted deaths were four higher than the previous week's toll of five killed, and the highest since the week ended Oct. 2, when 21 GIs died in battle, a spokesman said.

The wounded total jumped from a record low of four over the week to 78, the largest number since the week ending Oct. 23 when 84 servicemen were wounded.

Command records list 45,613 American soldiers killed and 302,283 wounded since the start of the war Jan. 1, 1961. The command said seven GIs died last week from nonhostile causes such as accidents and illness, bringing total losses in that category to 9,954.

Another five soldiers were added to the list of soldiers missing, captured or interned and which now has reached 1,471, spokesmen said.

CLOSE CALL — Cambodian soldier proudly displays his "souvenir" of a close brush with death after Communist AK-47 round passed through barrel of his own M-16 rifle during battle some 15 miles north of the Cambodian capital of Phnom Penh. Communist troops have launched their heaviest attack against the northern half of a stalled Cambodian column — apparently trying to cut the unit to ribbons — along Highway Six, north of Phnom Penh. Daring Cambodian Rescue

SAIGON (AP) — Nearly 200 miles away from his home base, Capt. Alvin W. Moore II ran from tree to tree, from rice field to rice field, deep inside Cambodia. North Vietnamese bullets whizzed over his head for more than two hours.

His face, right arm and right leg were burned from a flash fire in the cockpit of his light bomber when it was shot down while supporting Cambodian troops 100 miles from the South Vietnamese border.

The 25-year-old pilot from Livingston, Calif., was on a low bombing pass near Kompong Thom. Suddenly his twin-engine jet shook.

"You're on fire!" his wingman radioed. As the flames reached the cockpit, Moore parachuted into the North Vietnamese lines.

The wingman radioed a command plane in the area, and within minutes rescue aircraft were on the way from Bien Hoa, Moore's base in South Vietnam.

Two Jolly Green Giant helicopters swooped down for the Green Giant commanded by an pickup, but heavy ground fire forced them back. Their escort, a fighter-bomber, began pounding the enemy guns.

The Cambodian ground forces knew Moore's approximate location, having been alerted by radio by the American rescue team. Riding armored personnel carriers, they fought their way through the North Vietnamese lines and carried Moore to a secure location.

On a second attempt, a Jolly Green Giant commanded by an other Californian, Capt. Stephen Tyler of Los Angeles, picked up Moore and flew him back to Bien Hoa.

The rescue was made Monday, but the Air Force did not disclose details of the operation until today.

Except for getting hit," said Moore, "everything went my way all day."

Strafing of Indian Capital Reported

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS — Pakistani planes strafed the capital of India's Tripura State today, adjacent to East Pakistan's southeast border, an Indian government spokesman announced in New Delhi.

The spokesman said the Indian army had been ordered to take immediate "defensive action," indicating it would cross the border. The government used the same phrase in connection with the three previous advances into East Pakistan which it has admitted.

The Indian spokesman gave this account:

Five U.S.-supplied F86 Sabre Jets bombed and strafed the city of Agartala, 60 miles due east of Dacca, and its airport. A number of civilians were killed or wounded, but anti-aircraft guns prevented any damage to the airfield.

Agartala has been under heavy shelling since 8 p.m. Wednesday, with artillery shells smashing into heavily populated areas and in the surrounding refugee camps for Bengalis from East Pakistan.

The shelling has killed four civilians and wounded 37.

The Pakistani army reported two new Indian ground attacks, but Pakistani military sources said the defenders held or repulsed all assaults.

Prime Minister Indira Gandhi responded today to U.S. suspension of military shipments to her government with a declaration that India will follow its own policy toward Pakistan and will ignore any Western advice that her government feels is against India's national interest.

"The times have passed when any nation sitting 3,000 or 4,000 miles away could give orders to Indians on the basis of their color superiority to do as they wished," Mrs. Gandhi told members of her Congress party outside her residence.

Mrs. Gandhi did not directly mention the U.S. decision to cancel $2 million worth of military export licenses and to refuse all future licenses. But in obvious reaction to the U.S. move, she said: "The country is not so weak as to be afraid of any aid being cut off. Today we will do what is best in our national interest and not what these so-called big nations would like us to do."

The prime minister called again for the Pakistani army to withdraw from East Pakistan and in a new demand said Pakistani troops should also pull back from India's western border.

She did not promise any reciprocal Indian withdrawal.

Mideast Debate Off Until Friday

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Debate on the tense Middle East situation, originally scheduled to begin today, was postponed until Friday until the latest peace delegation to the troubled area could arrive from Africa.

Presidents Leopold Senghor of Senegal and Maj. Yakubu Gowon of Nigeria, Foreign Minister Mario Cardoso of Zaire and State Minister William Eteki of Cameroon met with both Arab and Israeli leaders recently to try to work out a peaceful solution to the problem.

Some U.N. sources said unofficially another reason for the postponement — requested by Egypt — was to prevent a conflict with publicity from Israel Prime Minister Golda Meir's talks in Washington with President Nixon.

The General Assembly debated the Middle East situation formally last year for the first time since 1967. Last November, it called on Israel and the Arabs to resume contacts with Gunnar V. Jarring of Sweden, special envoy appointed by Secretary General Thant to seek a peace settlement.

It also reinforced Resolution 242 — the measure in which the Security Council on Nov. 22, 1967, outlined broad terms for a peace settlement following the six-day Middle East War in June.

Jarring, whose mission has been dormant since last March returned from Moscow where he serves as Sweden's ambassador to attend the assembly debate.

Since the 1967 war, the assembly has adopted six resolutions on Middle East belligerency. Most of them, as well as 22 Security Council resolutions adopted in the same period, have been largely ignored.

Court Fight Ends, Woman Gets Sculpture

NEW YORK (UPI)—Mrs. Ileana Lindt, flanked by two deputy sheriffs and her lawyer, walked into the Guggenheim Museum Wednesday. A few minutes later she walked out with a sculpture insured for $80,000, climbed in her limousine and drove away.

The surprise action ended an 11-year court fight by Mrs. Lindt to regain possession of the sculpture "The Muse" by Constantin Brancusi which she had bought at auction in 1955 for $7,000.

The Romanian-born heiress said she took the action because the museum refused to return the sculpture even though a New York Supreme Court had ruled in her favor two years ago.

"They (museum officials) were very rude to me and didn't want to give it up," she said. "But what could they do? I had the sheriffs with me."

The museum would not comment on the episode. The Guggenheim, a modernistic, spiral-shaped museum overlooking Central Park, has had "The Muse" since 1958.

Mrs. Lindt bought the sculpture in 1955 when she was married to Arde Bulova, board chairman of the Bulova Watch Co. Bulova died in 1958 and after unsuccessfully trying to get a share of his $10 million estate, Mrs. Lindt tried to get possession of the sculpture.

The lower courts ruled against her, saying although she bought it at auction, her husband had paid for it. Finally, after 40 judges had handled the case, the supreme court ruled in her favor in 1969.

A trooper said, "The cause of many bad accidents is the fellow who blocks traffic by driving slowly in the fast or left-hand lane. If he were considerate of others and OF HIS OWN SAFETY he would keep to the right. Even careful drivers often take the risk of dangerously passing the offending driver. When this happens there's the chance of a side-swiping pile-up or a head-on collision. You can render a public service by reminding everyone that slow left-lane driving is tension-creating, accident-causing driving," said the trooper. We hope to SERVE YOU here and in business.

Radio Station Ordered To Turn In Bomb Letter

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—A New York City radio station which said it received a letter claiming credit for the bombing of a state office was ordered Wednesday to turn the letter over to authorities.

Albany County Court Judge Martin Schenck issued the ruling in denying a motion by WBAI-FM to quash a subpoena issued by District Attorney Arnold W. Proskin.

On Sept. 17, four days after authorities quelled the rioting at Attica state prison, in which 43 lives were lost, a bomb exploded at the headquarters of the State Department of Correctional Services. About the time of the explosion, WBAI-FM said it received a letter bearing symbols of the racial Weathermen group claiming credit for the blast. No one was injured in the explosion.

After the non-commercial, listener-supported station operated by the Pacific Foundation refused to turn the letter over to the DA's office, Proskin obtained the subpoena.

In refuting arguments of freedom of the press and the Civil Rights Law, Schenck said the civil rights statute could not be used to "provide an exception to the public policy of requiring investigation of crime and prosecution of criminals by the proper authorities."

In its motion, the station argued that the letter was "absolutely privileged information received during the normal course of news gathering."

It said its status as an outlet of expression of opinion by organizations which might otherwise be cut off from the media would be seriously threatened if such communications and sources were not kept secret.

Schenck said, however, that the letter was not the result of any attempt by any news media to obtain information or even to give a forum to such a group as the Weathermen to express political opinion.

Rather, he said, it was "in the nature of a boast by this organization that it could and would take the law into its own hands in avenging the deaths at Attica prison."

Protection given to the press "must be subservient to the furtherance of public policy requiring investigation of crime and prosecution thereof, at least where the information received is not the result of affirmative questioning of persons by a news agency acting as such."

NAACP LEADER — Arthur B. Spingarn, president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) from 1940 to 1965 and a member of a white family who pioneered the organization, died in his sleep at his New York City apartment Wednesday at the age of 93. Spingarn, elected honorary president of the NAACP for life upon his retirement in 1965, had practiced law in New York City since 1900 and was the author of many works in the legal field as well as in race relations. A native New Yorker and Columbia University alumnus, Spingarn was a noted Bibliophile specializing in books and pamphlets by Negroes. There are no immediate survivors and funeral services will be held here Sunday with U. S. Supreme Court Justice Thurgood Marshall and NAACP Executive Director Roy Wilkins as eulogists. (UPI)

DeMartinos Win Another Round For Baby Lenore

MIAMI (AP) — The adoptive parents of Baby Lenore won another legal battle Wednesday in their fight to retain custody of the 19-month-old child.

Florida's Third District Court of Appeals refused to rehear the custody case in which it disagreed with New York State courts and ruled in favor of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas DeMartino.

The DeMartinos came to Florida earlier this year with Baby Lenore after the New York Supreme Court ruled that the child should be returned to her natural mother, Olga Scarpetta.

Miss Scarpetta gave Lenore up for adoption at birth but later changed her mind and tried to regain custody of the child from the DeMartinos.

Man Injured In Crash

GLENVIEW — A collision involving two cars that occurred at 5:15 p.m. Wednesday on Route 9W at the intersection of Eastern Park resulted in injuries to Rene C. Mattern, 30, of 15A Edgewood Drive, Saugerties. He was taken to Kingston Hospital by Doctor's Ambulance and treated for head and chest injuries.

Hurley State Police said the vehicles involved were operated by Margaret Sanza, 62, of RD 3, Box 377, Saugerties and Linda Erney, 30, of 33 Linwood Drive, also Saugerties. A description of the mishap and further details were incomplete today, police said.

Obscenity Conviction Upheld by Appeals Court

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The obscenity conviction of a New York City theater owner who showed the Andy Warhol film, "Blue Movie," was upheld by the State Court of Appeals Wednesday.

Judge Francis Bergan, writing the majority opinion for the state's highest court, said the film "is simple pornography unrelieved by any merit. Acts of sexual intercourse are portrayed, actual or simulated, accompanied by a series of sexual manifestations and movements."

The court rejected the argument of Saul Heller, the theater owner, that the obscenity issue should have been taken up at an adversary hearing before the film was seized.

The film was viewed in the theater by the judge who issued the warrants to seize it.

The film was also viewed by the appeals judges when the case came before them.

Chief Judge Stanley Fuld and Judge James Gibson dissented. Fuld wrote in the minority opinion that he would condemn the film if he were judging it on his personal views of its social value and moral or aesthetic worth. But, he said, basic principles of jurisprudence "command us to put to one side all personal predilections."

The conviction is punishable should have been taken up at a

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market continued to rise in active trading at the opening today.

Gainers took a strong lead over losers among issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange.

Price changes of key issues were mostly limited to fractions.

Big Board prices included: Pacer, up 1/4 to 39; Memorex, off 1/4 to 25; Atlantic Richfield, up 1/4 to 61 1/2; Chrysler, off 1/4 to 27 1/2; General Dynamics, up 1/4 to 21 1/2; Eastman Kodak, off 1/4 to 89 1/2; and Zenith, up 1/4 to 41 1/2.

The market on Wednesday rang up its fifth consecutive gain as optimism rose that progress was being made toward some solutions of world monetary problems.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials jumped 14.67 to 846.01, swelling its five-session rise to about 48 points. The New York Stock Exchange index of some 1,300 common stocks climbed 89 to 52.73.

Among 7,385 issues traded on the Big Board 1,238 advanced and 208 declined. The range of issues traded was the broadest in the history of the NYSE.

Civil Air Patrol Searches For Possible Downed Plane

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Eight Civil Air Patrol aircraft and private planes continued the search today for a light plane believed to have crashed with a Michigan couple and their three children in western Massachusetts or eastern New York.

A Civil Air Patrol spokesman said more than two dozen planes, including two helicopters, scanned the area yesterday with no sight of the missing Piper Cherokee. He said searches today would be concentrated in the western Massachusetts area around Mt. Greylock.

Maj. William Donovan of the Albany CAP said the single-engine plane had been out of radio contact since departing Sunday from Worcester, Mass., bound for Pontiac, Mich. Relatives in Michigan identified the missing family as Paul Gallaty, 48, his wife, Norma, and three of their five children, all of Avon township, north of Rochester, Michigan.

A Cheshire, Mass., man reportedly saw a low-flying aircraft at about the time the Gallaty plane should have been over the area of western Massachusetts.

Col. John Bertoli, of the North Adams Civil Air Patrol, said the pilot of the plane did not file a flight plan. He described the weather at the time of takeoff as marginal.

Bob Martin, owner of Martin Aviation at Pontiac-Oakland Airport in Michigan, said Gallaty was an experienced visual pilot who took his plane up about every week. However, Martin said Gallaty did not have an instrument rating.

He said the Gallaty family flew to Worcester, Mass., last week to spend the Thanksgiving holiday with Mrs. Gallaty's relatives. They left the Worcester airport Sunday at 1:30 p.m.

Rhinebeck Commerce Dinner

Dutchess Leader to Speak

By TIM SCHUSTER

RHINEBECK Newly elected Dutchess County Executive William H. Bartles will be the highlight speaker before the Rhinebeck Chamber of Commerce at its Dec. 7 dinner at Foster's Coach House.

Others invited to speak, all in the field of convalescent and extended care, are: Mother Edmond Frances O'Carroll, director of the Ferncliff Residence and the Ferncliff Nursing Home for the Aged; Michael Mazzarella, administrator of Northern Dutchess Hospital; Carroll Lunch, president of the board of Northern Dutchess Hospital.

According to the chamber, "This fine slate of speakers will enlighten you as to what is going on in this community in the field of convalescent care, extended care in the hospital, medical facilities, and activities in various phases of county government."

It was noted that speeches were to be short and to the point, followed by a period to question the speakers. Members were urged to bring family and friends to the Holiday Dinner Meeting to begin at 7:30 p.m. In other chamber business, the Rhinebeck brochure is progressing in soliciting advertising to cover the costs of production. Several persons involved in the work are Ed Har-

No date for the mandatory third public hearing, to be held by the Board, has yet been set.

Bernard Tiger, chairman of the Planning Board, told the Freeman that the plan was submitted to the Village Board after the second public hearing by the Planning Board with one minor revision. That was: a piece of the 10,000 designation in that par-

'Shadow' Creator to Perform

NEW PALTZ character Lamont Cranston, better known to millions of radio listeners for two decades as "The Shadow". Gibson, writing under the pen name Maxwell Grant, turned out 283 Shadow novels which formed the basis for the radio program. Although off the airwaves for almost 20 years, "The Shadow" will come to life on the Academy stage by way of a live production of an original radio script. The script, "Mansion of Madness", will be performed by the Bellinger Repertory Troupe. One hundred needy youngsters from the New Palz area will be the guests of the show. The show, directed by Donald Bellinger, Rocky Montgomery, and George Montgomery, producers of a boxing and wrestling exhibition held at the Academy last month. Proceeds from that event will be used to pay the youngsters' admission to the Dec. 12 show, and also provide them with gifts and other surprises. Tickets must be purchased at the door.

Various Skill Courses Slated For Civil Service Employees

POUGHKEEPSIE Twenty-two courses in various skill areas will be offered by Dutchess Community College to New York State civil service employees during the spring-1972 semester. Application must be made prior to Dec. 10 for enrollment; the courses will be offered without charge to the employee upon approval of agency personnel officers. Nine courses designed to meet the needs of CSEA personnel were offered during the fall term by Dutchess, and the response was promising enough to warrant a request by the State Department of Civil Service for a substantial increase in the course offerings. With 22 courses now underway for the spring, Dutchess leads the 36 other two-year community colleges in the state which offer similar CSEA academic programs. "The college has had an ex-

Low-Lead Gasoline Sales Behind Early Estimates

United Press International
In the matter of low-lead gasoline, the U.S. consumer is not putting his money where his mouth is.

A couple of years ago, a great hue and cry went up from the public (or at least, that vocal portion of it concerned about air pollution) demanding that oil companies "get the lead out" of gasoline.

Lead Tetraethyl, a widely used additive which raises the octane rating of gasoline and reduces engine knocking, was depicted by aroused environmentalists as a major villain in contamination of the atmosphere.

Responding to what sounded like a widespread public clamor, major oil companies rushed into production and distribution of low-lead or lead-free brands of gasoline.

And did the American consumer hasten to take advantage of this opportunity to do his part in combatting the air pollution he professes to fear so greatly?

He did not. In the jargon of the oil industry, low-lead gasoline has "bombed at the pump."

Finding that low-lead gasoline means lower performance or higher cost, or both, the vast majority of motorists are still filling their tanks with the usual brands of leaded gasoline.

Last year, only two per cent of the gasoline bought by American motorists was of the low-lead variety. Since many 1971 model automobiles were specifically designed to utilize low-lead gasoline, the oil industry is hopefully anticipating it will be able to sell a bit more of the stuff this year. But the most optimistic estimates turned up by a UPI survey put the probable 1971 consumption of low-lead gasoline at a modest 5 per cent of total gasoline sales.

The original rationale for removing lead from gasoline was that it contaminates the air. But the legs were cut off this argument by a recent report from the National Research Council stating that the amount of lead which gets into the air via gasoline "poses no identifiable threat to the general population."

Colombo Case Is Severed

NEW YORK (UPI)—Reputed underworld leader Joseph Colombo Sr., still recovering from gunshot wounds, Wednesday had his case severed from that of some 30 co-defendants arrested with him in a gambling raid.

Federal Judge Anthony Travia granted the severance after receiving a medical report from a government neurosurgeon.

The report was sealed but Travia indicated that it said Colombo could not, at present, regain his faculties sufficiently to stand trial.

Colombo's lawyer, Jacob P. Lefkowitz, had moved for the

HURLEY
A modern gymnastics demonstration will be featured during two assembly programs at the Hurley Elementary School on Friday.

Miss Andrea Zsoldos of Hungary, along with four of her local students, will present programs of modern gymnastics at 1 and 2 p.m. The program is under the sponsorship of the Parents Organization of Hurley Elementary School.

Miss Zsoldos, a recent Budapest high school graduate, is currently touring the United States as a guest teacher of modern gymnastics, and instructs a weekly class at Blanche's Dance Studio in Kingston.

Her students include Susan and Linda Yochman, Dawn Reilly and Mary Ellen Watzka. They will demonstrate the compulsory gymnastic movements that they have learned since the class began in October.

Modern gymnastics is a separate sport from regular gymnastics, with exercises based on ballet, modern dance, floor exercises and hand skills. Hand apparatus used includes balls, jump ropes, hoops and ribbons. The training exercises develop the gymnast's total muscle tone, coordination, agility, flexibility, gracefulness, poise and creativity.

Miss Zsoldos has demonstrated in California, Hawaii and New York City for the National Dance Caravan and Dance Teachers Group. She was a student of the Hungarian Modern Gymnastic State School until earlier this year.

The commentator for the two assembly programs will be Mrs. Henry Yochman of Kingston, president of the Parent-Teacher Organization at the George Washington School, where Miss Zsoldos demonstrated earlier this year. Mrs. Yochmann will explain each exercise and give background information on the sport.

All interested residents are invited to attend Friday's program, according to Mrs. Frand Applegate, president of the Parents Organization at Hurley Elementary School.

Are Antique Antennas robbing you of good TV Color?

not if you have an
ALLIANCE TENNA-ROTOR®

Horse-and-buggy antenna systems for B&W were OK in their day, but their day is gone. In this age of space technology and sophisticated Color TV, the results of cheap out-dated antenna systems range from merely passable to completely inadequate.

Your precisely engineered set is only part of the balanced reception system you need for good color. The other part is your antenna system—a directional color antenna specified for your area, and a rotor to lock-in to a direct signal. These are as essential to good Color as your set... and yet the cost is small by comparison.

For your rotor, make sure it is an Alliance Tenna-Rotor. Built to space-age requirements and operating with space-age precision and efficiency, the Alliance Tenna-Rotor is rightly called... "TV's Better Color Getter!"

Don't put up with imperfect Color TV any longer. Ask your TV Technician listed here about bringing your TV reception up-to-date with an Alliance Tenna-Rotor.

SHARP CONTRAST — Decolletage of Mary Wilson (L) and Cindy Birdsong of the American pop singing group the "Supremes" contrasts sharply with the more sedate style worn by England's Princess Margaret as the Princess greets the duo in receiving line at Royal Albert Hall in London, England, following pop concert to aid the Invalid Children's Association. Demoted Squad Members Back On the Beat BUFFALO (AP) — Thirteen demoted Narcotics Squad plainclothes detectives were back pounding a beat today, and the Erie County district attorney disclosed he had found additional instances of drugs seized by police now missing.

Police Commissioner Frank N. Felicetta said in a statement Wednesday explaining the demotions, "Public confidence especially in the police narcotics unit, must be restored."

Felicetta in his statement cited only the recent disappearance of 4.8 pounds of heroin from a police vault. The loss of the drug, valued at $100,000 in the underworld, led to the dismissal of federal narcotics charges against two men in U.S. District Court.

Dist. Atty. Michael F. Dillon later said that he has been studying the police department's drug storage system since the heroin vanished.

"I'm finding cases where in fact narcotics signed out is not now locatable," he said.

Dillon did not say how many such cases he had found, but the Buffalo Courier-Express newspaper quoted an unnamed source claiming there were 35 cases of drugs in police storage now unaccounted for.

One narcotics squad officer, Sgt. Alvin R. Grismacher, was suspended after the disappearance of the heroin. He awaits a hearing on departmental charges of dereliction of duty.

The commander of the squad, Capt. Kevin C. Harmon, was not demoted but was reassigned to a Patrol Division relief circuit.

Harmon criticized Felicetta's orders as "poorly timed," pointing out that the heroin case is still under investigation.

"It's hard to deny his statement puts the finger on the entire squad," Harmon remarked.

DCC Chorus Plans Events

POUGHKEEPSIE — Music students from Dutchess Community College will perform at three locations during the holiday season this year under the direction of Professor Helen Baldwin, chairman of the college music program.

The DCC Chorus and Madrigal Singers travel to Hudson River State Hospital Dec. 9; to the county Old Ladies' Home Dec. 14 for Christmas concerts.

And at 1 p. m., Dec. 16, the student singers join with the college's symphonic band for a joint concert in Dutchess Hall, a traditional performance for faculty, staff and students.

Compositions for the 1971 program include favorites by Bach, Handel and Berlioz, along with traditional English and French carols.

Some of the soloists for the performances are: William Amrod, Red Hook; Christie Dugan, Joseph Mathe, Kathleen Bain, Mary Bowe, Mark Wheatley and Susan Hilmar of Poughkeepsie; Diane Wood, Hopewell Junction; and Candace Howlett, Pleasant Valley.

Recent Wedding Anniversaries

MR. AND MRS. HENRY FINN

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Finn, Wiltwyck Gardens, Kingston, were guests of honor at a dinner party Saturday evening, Nov. 27 at Casablanca Restaurant. The party was given by their children in observance of their 50th wedding anniversary.

Mary's Church, Kingston, by the Rev. John J. Hickey. Mrs. Finn is the former Harriet Holosopple. Honor attendants were the late Catherine Harris and Thomas Gadd. Earlier this year the Finns attended a Golden Jubilee Mass at St. Patrick's Cathedral celebrated by Terrence Cardinal Cooke. They received the Pontifical Blessing.

The Finns are the parents of two children, Mrs. Edward (Lorraine) Hoffmann, Kingston, and George Finn Farmingdale, L.I. They have seven grandchildren and three great-grandchildren. The party was attended by 60 guests. Many congratulatory messages were received, including a personal message from President Nixon.

Evening of the Arts To Be Held at Paltz

The Faculty Wives of The College at New Paltz will present "An Evening of the Arts" on Friday, Dec. 3, at 8 p.m. in the Deyo Room of the New Paltz Savings Bank. The community is invited to attend.

All of the artists represented or performing are either working professionals or trained amateurs. The program will open with Ann Nunes, soprano, singing three Bach songs, with Mary Jane Corry, of the New Paltz faculty, accompanying her on the piano.

Audrey Borenstein will read three landscapes and a poem from her short stories, usually published in literary magazines. Kappa and Robert Waugh, of the English department, will present a linguistically twisted version of Little Red Riding Hood in puppetry.

Nancy Grosshans and Kay Robertson will perform scenes from The Women by Claire Boothe and Barefoot in the Park by Neil Simon, both of which illustrate the same crisis between mother and daughter.

French literature will be represented by Susan Kraat's interpretive reading of selections from Collette and a scene from Jean Giraudoux's The Madwoman of Chaillot, interpreted by Linda Herr, Eileen Wildy, and Adele Kajeckas.

Sparrow and Harry Stoneback, both professional country-folk singers, will finish the performance part of the program.

The visual arts will be represented by Drawings by Barbara Burge, watercolors by Greta Loeb, and sculpture by Thyra Wexler.

The coordinating committee for "An Evening of Arts" includes Audrey Borenstein, Adele Kajeckas, Anna Kossman, and Natalie Minewski.

NUTCRACKER BALLET — The traditional pre-Christmas treat, Nutcracker, will be performed here at Community Theatre on Wednesday, Dec. 22 at 7:30 p.m. sponsored by the Junior League and the American Association of University Women of Kingston. The ballet will be danced by Tom Adair's Poughkeepsie Ballet Theatre, accompanied by Hudson Valley Philharmonic orchestra. Mailing subscription tickets for the delightful holiday production are (L-R) Mrs. J. Robert Wood, general co-chairman; Mrs. Arling Kalleberg, Mrs. Richard Muller, Mrs. Timothy Moore, committee heads. Early reservations are advised. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

'His Wife's Phone Calls Are Frightening Me'

DEAR ABBY: I have been a lonely divorcee for nearly three years. I'm 45. Several months ago I met an attractive 50-year-old man who was (and still is) separated from his wife. This gentleman and I have been constant companions ever since our meeting, which is the nicest thing that has happened to me in a very long time.

Several weeks ago his wife started phoning me at all hours of the night. At first I was patient because I felt sorry for her. But now her calls have become frightening.

I have left my receiver off the hook for hours, but still the calls continue. I spoke to my companion about this and he has spoken to her, but to no avail.

I don't want to get an unlisted number as I have friends all over the country who call me and come to town occasionally, and these calls are important to me.

My companion says his wife is emotionally disturbed, and I believe she is. What's the answer? Should I put up with her calls until she decides to quit? Must I stop seeing my gentleman friend? or should I take legal action to stop the harassment?

NEEDS ADVICE
DEAR NEEDS: Don't take any legal action unless you are positive that both you and your constant companion are not vulnerable to some legal action from his wife. Until a man is divorced, he is married, you know, which places you in the position of cavorting with a married man.

DEAR ABBY: I am a boy, 15, and a high school sophomore. Recently we had school elections, and I was nominated for vice president of my class and I am wondering about the following situation:

Is it snobbish to vote for yourself in any kind of election? I'm not speaking only of the secret ballot when nobody else will know for whom you have voted, but in open elections when the voters raise their hands to cast their votes. I did this the other day (voted for myself in an open election), and now I feel terrible because I'm afraid some of the kids will think I am stuck up.

I would like your opinion on this.

DAVID
DEAR DAVID: The Rabbi

Hillel said: "If I am not for myself, who will be for me?" the rabbi was right on!

DEAR ABBY: I am 41 and am getting married for the first time. My fiancé is 49 and had outlived two wives. My problem is what kind of wedding to have.

I have always dreamed of having a big church wedding with a white gown and veil, bridesmaids and all the frills, but I am afraid that some of my friends and relatives would consider this bad taste. I want my wedding to be perfect, but I care a great deal about what people say.

My fiancé is agreeable to anything I decide. I can well afford to have a large, church wedding, but I am wondering if perhaps a smaller, more quiet wedding wouldn't be in better taste? What do you think?

UNDECIDED IN BOSTON

DEAR UNDECIDED: A large church wedding would not be in "bad taste" since this is your first. But since you have misgivings, I think you'd be happier with a smaller, more quiet one.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-Agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

Hints on Judging a Sewing Competition

By JOANNE SCHREIBER

How do you keep your bound buttonholes from unraveling? With a little clear nail polish. Right?

Wrong.

Super-workmanship can make a super-outfit, even if the fabric is a $2.98-a-yard polyester knit. Right?

Wrong.

There is nothing, absolutely nothing, quite so educational as judging garments on hangers, getting a moth's-eye view of seams and buttonholes, linings and facings, handstitching and machine stitching. As one of three judges in the semifinals of the Singer World Stylemaker Contest, I had a rare opportunity to inspect 87 garments, each of which had won a pair of electric scissors and a "Touch and Sew" sewing machine for its maker in previous judgments. These garments, then, were the cream of the crop, the best-of-show in three age groups from 29 regions.

The other two judges were Belle Rivers, Director of Talon Consumer Services, and Ina R. Stevens, Fashion Coordinator for Stacy Fabrics Corp. It took us two days to choose the 18 garments — six from each of the three age groups. All finalists receive cash prizes; the three "Queens of Sewing" receive jet trips abroad.

While judging, selecting, sorting, eliminating, discussing and deciding, we came up with three basic rules for contestants, and a whole batch of inside tips. First, the rules:

1. Use good fabrics. On a rack with a couple of dozen garments, good fabrics stand out. They hang better, they stand up to packing, unpacking, pressing and general handling; and they make your sewing look better.

2. Don't oversew. The new doubleknits, whether of cotton, wool, synthetics, or blends, require simple sewing techniques. They simply don't need such refinements as bound seams; even an underlining is often too much. Suit your sewing to the fabric, and save your best workmanship for deserving fabrics.

3. Have fun with your sewing! Browns and grays and murky neutrals are O.K. — but what's wrong with red, a swinging print, a wild plaid? Only the youngest sewers went in for color — the middle and older age groups seemed terrified of it. Fabric and color are terrific turn-ons — make them work for you! And what about some fun clothes?

So much for the rules. Now for a few remarks on technique. Several of the girls used a close buttonhole stitch to sew on hooks and eyes — very nice. Covered snaps rate an approving nod. Remember to sew down the ends of your invisible zippers, and finish your facing edges as nicely as your hem edges. Watch out for those heavy coat linings which are fleece on one side and satin on the other. They can drag down the coat fabric and make the garment look droopy. Inner fabric should support the outer fabric, not dominate it.

If you can't do bound buttonholes properly, don't do them at all. And be sure the workmanship is on the same level all the way through the garment. Some garments had sensational buttonholes and unbelievably clumsy hemstitching, and we couldn't believe all the work had been done by the same young girl.

All in all, though, we were delighted to see how well you sew, and how much you know of tailoring and real couturier techniques.

Hints From Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:

With patchwork patterns so popular now, I've worked out a novel gift wrapping idea.

One day I didn't have the car to run to the store. But I needed a package wrapped before my family came home. I had to act fast.

I gathered different scraps from leftover and used wrappings. Then taped them together in squares, oblongs, strips, etc. in patchwork fashion. (Tape on the wrong side so it won't show.)

Then I took scraps of different colors and kinds of ribbons and fashioned the tying and bows.

The result was darling!

AN AVID READER

This could sure keep ol' Mom out of the dog house, now couldn't it? ... never know when you will be in just this same spot. Thanks so much for sending this hint our way.

Letter of Laughter

DEAR HELOISE:

Do you have a pill-taking puppy, as we do? Here is how to successfully administer those time-release capsules. Wrap a luscious hunk of liverwurst (or something similar) around the pill. Station hubby at the front door.

Make Suzie-Q sit up and beg. Make it appear really worth her while!

As you toss the treat in the air and "snookums" catches it in her mouth, have hubby ring the doorbell.

This distracts her attention and gets her so excited that the pill goes down without a hiccup.

Works for us every time!

PUPPY PAMPERER

DEAR HELOISE:

This hint is for others with little ones still in diapers.

The new snap-on pants with disposable diapers are great. The only drawback is the disposal problem.

I solved that easy.

Fold cloth diapers in thirds (on the longest side). Sew down both edges with the longest machine stitch.

This long length folded in half fits in the snap-on pants. (The size for babies over twelve pounds.)

You never have to worry about the paper diapers chafing baby's bottom.

And no more diapers to fold. They are already sewed and prefolded for you.

KATHY YEMMA

DEAR HELOISE:

I hate spooning brown sugar into a cup as I am forever spilling it and who can afford to be wasteful these days?

I discovered a great idea. I buy brown sugar in the box and then pour the sugar into a heavy plastic bag. The bag keeps it from getting hard, makes measuring a snap.

I slip the cup into the bag, scoop up the sugar, and with my other hand press from the outside of the bag. You can pack a level cup in jig time — without spilling a granule and with no mess at all.

MARILYN EWIN

DEAR HELOISE:

This is the easy and sanitary way that we prevent confusion at bath time at our house.

Each member of the family is given a different-colored bath towel and face cloth, and this is to be their assigned color until specified otherwise.

This not only saves on laundering but also gives the bathroom a very neat appearance.

Toothbrushes can be bought to match each person's color code.

Doing the Right Thing

By ELIZABETH L. POST

(© 1971, Emily Post Institute, Inc.)

DEAR MRS. POST: Will you please put an item in your column mentioning that riders driving with someone (pick-up included) give the cost of the bus fare to the driver of the car. Cars are a luxury and just because they are going to the same place does not mean a little financial assistance would not be welcome. Gasoline has gone up, insurance rates have gone up, upkeep of a car, all figure into the convenience of being given a lift. A friend of mine lets it be understood bus fare is expected to be paid.

DAN

DEAR DAN: Regular riders and car pool members should certainly contribute to costs. Hitchhikers who travel miles for nothing should also help out—with tolls and half the gas if they can. But has the milk of human kindness turned so sour that, if you see a friend waiting for a bus and you offer him a lift in the direction you are going you expect to be reimbursed? Personally, I'd rather take the bus!

DEAR MRS. POST: I was wondering if you'd say something about the proper way to eat hard-boiled eggs. A friend of mine always peels her egg, cuts it in half, salts and peppers it, and then picks it up with her hand to eat it instead of using a fork. Is this proper?

IRENE

DEAR IRENE: I definitely consider hard-boiled eggs, when eaten "dry," as "finger food." Of course if they are sliced thin or diced and served with sauce they are eaten with a fork, but try cutting into even a halved egg with a fork! Your friend is eating her egg just as you would a deviled egg served as a hors d'oeuvre—in the only practical way.

LIBERTY
Maybe, it was the presence of an inordinate number of scouts that inhibited Ulster County Community College's basketball machine from doubling the score on Sullivan County here Wednesday night. More likely, it was due to the fact that Coach Mike Perry opened the gates of mercy as wide as possible. In any event, the Senators' thunderous 102-52 victory over the Mountaineers indicated that competition for UCCC will have to come from elsewhere in the Mid-Hudson Conference this season.

straight or Ulster which now faces road games at Westchester Friday and Rockland Saturday, where Messrs. Pittman and Frazier, late of NFA, await their arrival.

"It was a funny kind of game and despite the lopsided score there were times when we really looked bad," the UCCO coach observed. "We set a maximum of 25 points a half for our defense and we missed by only a point in each half as Sullivan went 26-26 for its 52 points.

The one Sullivanite, who might have amassed a good scoring total, 61 Larry Hill, bucketed 14 points in the first half but was banished on fouls — the fifth a technical — early in the second half. He finished with 18. That left Sullivan with virtually nothing in the way of shooting power.

The nature of the game gave Coach Perry a chance to use all 12 players on the roster, with five scoring in double figures and everyone getting on the scoreboard. Jack Knowles led the team with 16 points, Coleman Link hit 15, Henry Marshall 13 and Walter Lloyd 11.

Ulster hit 48 per cent from the field (42.87) and 60 per cent (18.30) from the free throw line. Sullivan was 36 per cent and 50 per cent, respectively.

"Everybody played about the same amount of time," Perry pointed out. "Linnell Marshall had another great night with 10 rebounds and four blocked shots." UCCC picked off 48 rebounds, had 14 assists and 27 turnovers.

Jackie Knowles turned in his best performance to date with 8-for-8 from the field for 16 points, four assists and a steal. Lloyd turned in a rather spectacular total of eight steals and six assists to go with his 16 points. Link picked off 14 rebounds.

Nixon and Lloyd took only eight shots each and both connected with five.

Ulster riddled the porous Sullivan defense with fast breaks and driving layups and smothered its offense with a relentless man-to-man press.

Perry wasn't lulled by the easy romp over the Sullivanites. "We're going to have to shoot a lot better, if we expect to beat Westchester and Rockland in our next two games," Perry cautioned.

He gave the impression he was looking beyond the Westco 'o Saturday's early-season crucial against Rockland, which could have a large bearing on the final standings in the conference.

"Farmington beat Rockland 92-80," said Perry, "but Wade Pittman scored 34 points and Larry Frazier had 32. I don't think we have anybody who can stop them."

Perry hinted he might play Nixon and Knowles one-on-one against the former NFA terrorists, with Lloyd as the double-team man.

Henry Nixon got some good news after the game. His wife presented him with a 6½-pound baby boy, their first.

Tennessee's Jackie Walker was the leading vote-getter at linebacker with 87 and he was joined by Michigan's Mike Taylor and Stanford's Jeff Siemon. Taylor has been described as "the best I've coached since Bob Babich at Miami", while Siemon, at 6-2, 225, is expected to be a high first-round pick.

LSU's Tommy Casanova, Tennessee's Bobby Majors and Michigan State's Brad Van Pelt join Ellis in the defensive backfield. Casanova, a 6-2, 195-pound senior, was hurt much of this season but always managed to make it back for the big games and was considered the key to the Bayou Bengal defense.

NEW YORK (AP) — Would you like to have a quarterback who has completed 162 of 281 passes for 2,012 yards and 20 touchdowns and three running backs who have carried 745 times for 4,841 yards?

That's what The Associated Press All-America team, announced Wednesday, has in Heisman Trophy winner Pat Sullivan of Auburn, the quarterback, plus runners Ed Marinaro of Cornell, Greg Pruitt of Oklahoma and Lydell Mitchell of Penn State.

The AP All-America team will appear Thursday, Dec. 9, on The Bob Hope Special (NBC-TV, 9-10 p.m., EST).

Breaking down the running backs, Marinaro carried 356 times for a record 1,881 yards.

Pruitt 160 times for 1,476 yards and Mitchell 229 times for 1,484 yards. Pruitt and Mitchell each have one regular season game left.

Marinaro also is major college football's all-time leading groundgainer with 4,715 yards. Mitchell has established an NCAA record by scoring 28 touchdowns while Pruitt has a shot at the standard of 9.62 yards per carry. He needs a super effort in Saturday's windup against Oklahoma State.

Should the running game suffer a relapse, Sullivan can crank up and unload to his favorite Auburn target, split end Terry Beasley. The speedy receiver caught 55 passes for 846 yards and 12 touchdowns. Doug

Even such runners as Marinaro, Pruitt and Mitchell probably would have a tough time running against the All-America defensive line—ends Wal Patulski of Notre Dame and Smylie Gebhart of Georgia Tech, tackles Larry Jacobson of Nebraska and Mel Long of Toledo and middle guard Rich Glover of Nebraska.

PHOENIX (UPI)—The Texas Rangers obtained two players from the New York Yankees and then included them in an eight-player swap with the Cleveland Indians today in a burst of trading to open the final day of the winter baseball meetings.

Several other deals were understood near completion as the baseball moguls went through their final session, with third baseman Ron Santo of the Chicago Cubs and pitcher Jim Fregosi of the California Angels the center of trade talks.

But it was the Rangers who broke a 36-hour trading logjam in the meetings here.

Swapping 29-year-old infielder Bernie Allen to the Yankees for left-handed pitcher Gerry Jones from the Syracuse farm team and pitcher Terry Ley from the Yankees Manchester farm club.

Trading Jones, Ley, centerfielder Del Unser and pitcher Dennis Riddleberger to the Indians for pitchers Rich Hand and Mike Paul, catcher Ken Suarez and outfielder Roy Foster.

Unser hit .255 with nine home runs with the Senators-Rangers this year and Riddleberger had a 3-1 record and a 3.21 earned run average. Suarez batted .203 in 50 games with the Indians and Foster hit .245. Hand was 2-6 and Paul 2-7 with Cleveland.

Santo has been sought since the beginning of these meetings by several clubs and the Yankees are especially hot to get him, offering one of their top line pitchers such as Mel Stottlemyre and Fritz Peterson. Fregosi became trade ball early in the meeting when the Angels obtained another shortstop, Leo Cardenas, from Minnesota.

The formal meetings moved into their final stages after the most important action Wednesday took place off-stage. A blue ribbon Washington, D. C. group met in a second secret meeting with the assembled club owners to demand a new team by the start of the 1973 season.

Rep. Bernie Sik (D Calif.), a leader in the four-man congressional delegation which was part of the Washington group, said the delegation was "pleased by the response" of the owners "creating a special committee to work with the club to find a way to bring a team to Washington.

However, the possibility of new team for Washington remains cloudy.

Baseball commissioner Bowie Kuhn, in announcing the formation of the committee, pointed out, "We did guarantee a solution—we guarantee to work to find whether there is a solution."

One club head, president Mike Burke of the Yankees, called the appearance of four congressmen and their insistence on the "necessity" of a new team, coupled with their remarks about baseball's problems, "a refined power play."

"They flexed a muscle in a very genteel way," said Burke. "Running through the whole thing was an implied threat."

Rep. Frank Horton (R-N.Y.) announced after the Wednesday meeting that the group represented to Kuhn a petition signed by 238 members of the House of Representatives supporting a new baseball team.

Washington." Without saying a word about the possibility of a sale, Sisk said the group talked about in Washington that Congress might look into the preferential status baseball has enjoyed under the anti-trust laws. Horton carefully pointed out that the number of petition signers was greater than a house majority of 218.

The members of the Washington group insisted there is now "ample financial ability" from private sources in the capital to back the return of a new team either through expansion or purchase of an existing team and moving it to Washington or supporting a team which would move there.

These private sources were not identified and the group conceded they might not have been available three months ago when owner Bob Short of the Washington Senators moved his club to Dallas-Fort Worth for financial reasons.

However, Sisk said people in Washington had undergone "a traumatic shock" at the departure of the Senators and he claimed a spirit now exists which didn't exist before.

NEW PALTZ as well as the wrestling and swimming squads, prepared for the season without really knowing if there would be a season to play.

The latter two teams opened up last night but will not continue past this weekend if a decision has not been reached. The basketball team will probably make the trip to Oneonta and pay for their own meal expenses, but Coach Pesavento predicted said that there was a chance that New Palitz would not make the upstate journey at all.

"We are very anxious to find out what's going to happen," Pesavento said. "We have just been left up in the air."

His thoughts echoed those of Bob Durkin, the soccer tennis coach, who noted Tuesday that every day the decision is delayed the players will find it harder to practice, knowing whether it would worth the effort.

Should the money situation rectified only part of Pesavento's problems would be solved. He then would have to figure out how he was going to win a winning team this season.

The Hawk round ball men have been in the campaign until Earl Thurman dropped out of school along with his 20-plus points per game average. He had high hopes of returning starter Dan Ro-

NEW PALTZ
New Paltz State dominated in all but the two heavy classes and went on to defeat Lehman College, 42-10, in the varsity wrestling opener here Wednesday.

Coach Jim Valentine's Hawks scored five pins and received the aid of two forfeits.

Only Fred Harrison's decision over Stu Levy at 190 pounds and George Guerci's forfeit heavyweight win went against New Paltz.

Wilfred Dyson, Bob Frazier, Frank Ford, Mark Ellison, Bruce Hartjen, Jim Creamer and Jim Scesa were victorious for the Hawks. Of that group all but Dyson and Ford won with pins.

Creamer's 53-second rout of Mark Rosenberg in the 167-pound class was the fastest fall of the evening.

"The boys wrestled seriously and took their opponents down, commented Valentine. "They did very well."

The Hawks are scheduled to host Hunter and Newark College Saturday at 1 p.m.

became ineligible. And he had high hopes until returning starter and leading rebounder Bruce Kreutzer was injured two weeks ago for an indefinite period.

That left Pesavento with three starting roles to fill. He'll try with Dan Valdez, the 6-6 strong man who has troubles rebounding but not scoring (although Don is slowed up with an injured ankle); Steve Galuski, the hustling backcourt man; Glenn Hudson, a transfer student from Auburn Community; Steve Fuller, a returning guard, and either Monroe Jones or one of the Diamond twins, Jeff or Andy.

Kreutzer's injury has everyone puzzled. He seemingly hurt his hip when diving for a loose ball during a scrimmage. But Bruce may be able to stay in the game. The pain began later that night and soon it appeared that he had a groin injury. Then he developed a fever. He's still using a cane to walk around.

Pesavento says it will be at least a month, if then, before he's ready.

Oneonta, with which New Paltz split last season, will be tough no matter who New Paltz starts. The Dragons are a quick team led by 6-4 Harold Styles, from Lexington, Va., and are expected to give the Hawks a long night.

That is if they play at all.

Would You Believe, The Cavaliers?

By United Press International There's a new division contender in the National Basketball Association — and would you believe the Cleveland Cavaliers?

The Cavaliers had scored one victory in 23 games at this stage of the 1970-71 NBA race and were being ridiculed as one of the worst teams in pro basketball history.

But they moved past the Cincinnati Royals into second place in the Central Division of the Eastern Conference when they defeated the Houston Rockets, 116-106 Wednesday night and are now only one game behind the division-leading Baltimore Bullets.

However, the Cavaliers have won five straight games and appear at least capable of maintaining their role as division contenders if not of taking the title.

Butch Beard's 13 first-half points paced the Cavaliers to a 58-55 lead and Charley Davis' 11 points sparked a 33-point fourth period which kept the Rockets out of reach. Beard led the Cavaliers with 21 points with Bobby Smith and John Johnson adding 20 each. Calvin Murphy and Stu Lantz had 24 each for the Rockets.

The Chicago Bulls beat the Royals, 109-101, the Los Angeles
Lakers downed the Boston Celtics, 124-111, the Philadelphia 76ers topped the Seattle
SuperSonics, 102-98, the Atlanta
Hawks defeated the Detroit
Pistons, 117-103, and the Phoenix
Suns whipped the Portland Trail Blazers, 139-103, in other Wednesday night games.

Bob Love scored 36 points to lead the Bulls to their ninth win in 10 games despite a 42-point effort by Cincinnati's Nate Archibald. Chet Walker added 23 points for the Bulls, who had a 55-40 halftime lead.

Jerry West scored 45 points and Gail Goodrich had 33 while Wilt Chamberlain pulled down 20 rebounds for the Lakers, who won their 15th straight. The Celtics fell eight points behind midway in the first period and never drew within that spread during the rest of the game.
The loss left the Celtics a half-game ahead of the second-place
New York Knicks in the Atlantic Division.

Billy Cunningham celebrated his 500th NBA game with a 32-point performance that led the 76ers to their victory over the SuperSonics. Lou Hudson, Herm
Gilliam, Pete Maravich and Walt Bellamy scored more than 20 points each in the Hawks' triumph at Detroit and Paul Silas, with 25 points, led the way to the Suns' fifth win in a row.

Rangers, Star In Two Worlds

By MARTIN LADER
UPI Sports Writer

Any resemblance between the New York Rangers and the Minnesota North Stars isn't merely coincidental.

Each team leads its respective division of the National Hockey League and both stress defense as the key to a winning attack. And if the style of play between the two clubs is similar, it could be because Minnesota coach Jack Gordon served four years as the assistant to Emile Francis, coach and general manager of the Rangers.

New York, which won the Vezina Trophy last season for allowing the fewest goals, maintained its two-point advantage in the East Division by routing the Buffalo Sabres, 7-2, Wednesday night while the North Stars, who boast the stingiest defense thus far this season, whipped California, 4-1, to jump three points ahead of Chicago in the West Division.

To close the analogy, consider that Gump Worsley and Cesare Maniago, the two men who have done all the Minnesota goaltending, are former Rangers.

Montreal maintained its runnerup position behind New York by overcoming a two-goal deficit to beat the Los Angeles Kings, 5-3, and in other games the Pittsburgh Penguins ended a six-game losing streak by beating the Detroit Red Wings,
4-2, and the Toronto Maple
Leafs beat the St. Louis Blues, 4-2.

Rod Gilbert scored two goals and assisted on two others as New York handed the Sabres their sixth consecutive setback.
Jean Ratelle had a goal and two assists to climb into third place on the all-time Ranger scoring list with 479 points.

Bill Goldsworthy picked up his second hat trick of the season for Minnesota, which set a team record by going unbeaten in its eighth consecutive game. Gary Jarrett ruined Maniago's bid for a shutout with his second goal of the campaign at 7:31 of the second period.

Jacques Lemaire scored two goals late in the third period as the Canadiens scored four times in that final session to overcome a 3-1 deficit. Guy Lafleur scored what proved to be the winning goal at 13:46 of the period. Montreal outshot Los Angeles, 50-17, for the game, but had trouble passing former teammate Rogatien Vachon until the third period outburst.

Bob Leiter scored the first hat trick of his career to carry Pittsburgh over Detroit and Jim Harrison scored the winner for Toronto against the Blues at 10:09 of the second period.

Official in Press Box Newest Wrinkle for TV

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston's national doubleheader, the Oilers owner Bud Adams and Oilers head coach Ed Hughes have television on their minds these days.

After watching an apparent touchdown catch ruled dead at the one-yard line in Sunday's 37-24 loss to Cleveland, Hughes is ready to suggest putting an official in the press box with an instant-replay handy.

"There's too much money involved in some of their decisions," Hughes said. "There's a lot of money involved for each player when it causes him to lose his Super Bowl share."

"I don't see why they couldn't put an official on a television camera and let him overrule decisions on the field
if they turn out to be wrong."

Adams was upset about an attempt to black out Oiler telecasts back to Houston when the Oilers played in Cincinnati two weeks ago and last week against the Browns in the Astrodome.

Last week we were supposed to be the second game of a national doubleheader, that's why our game was at 3 p.m., Adams said. "But they pulled us off and put Oakland and Baltimore on."

Adams said the Oilers' game at Cincinnati was shown only in Houston and Lufkin instead of the Southwest regional hookup.

"Because of our lackluster play, we're lucky just to get them to bring us back in here," Adams said. "When you don't have any more excitement on the field than we do, I guess you can't expect much more."

Busy Day for Cosell and ABC

NEW YORK (AP) — Buster Mathis wants an apology from ABC for its presentation of his fight with Muhammad Ali. ABC says there will be no apology. $ Beckons Nicklaus

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI)—Golf great Jack Nicklaus plans to chase his World Cup teammate Lee Trevino down to the wire to try to claim top spot among this season's money winners.

Nicklaus, trailing Trevino by less than $16,000 going into today's start of the $150,000 Walt Disney World Open, said he would enter the Bahamas National Open at Freeport next week if he fails at Disney to overtake Trevino's earnings of $229,552 so far.

"The money title is an important title," said Nicklaus. But, he added, "I wouldn't burn myself out in any one year in order to win it."

Old pro Arnold Palmer also could move into first place among the money winners with the $30,000 going to the winner of this next-to-last stop on the PGA tour. Palmer has collected $200,706 so far this year.

Nicklaus and Floridian Bert Yancey both hit record 65s, seven under par, during Wednesday's pro-am rounds over Disney's Magnolia course, one of two golf tracks at the new $400 million resort center.

Yancey said the 6,924-yard layout is "an easy course" and added: "It's strictly a Mickey Mouse course. But it's ideal for what Disney wants—a place where people can relax. The fairways are wide and the greens are in excellent shape."

Nicklaus rated the Magnolia course, getting its first test under the cleats of pros, as "far better than the average course."

"I like the course," he said. "It's built to take play that comes from the hotels and it adapts reasonably well for tournaments. It does what it's meant to do."

Yancey predicted scores would be low as 144 of golfdom's top stars teed off for four rounds across a man-made lake from Disney's newest fantasyland.

Both Nicklaus and Yancey said the winner probably would come in at least 16 under par. Nicklaus said the heavily-trapped golf course, carved out of Florida scrubland, offered amateurs an interesting afternoon while still presenting a challenge to the pros.

"And that's not easy to accomplish," he said.

HOWARD COSELL

Howard Brands Heisman Fraud

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. — Sportscaster Howard Cosell said today college football's Heisman Trophy is a fraud.

In conversation prior to a speech, Cosell said he did not personally think Auburn's Pat Sullivan should have won the trophy. He said he voted for Alabama's Johnny Musso.

"The best pro prospect is John Reeves of Florida," Cosell said. "Sullivan is a nice kid who is not a great college quarterback even by college standards," he said.

"The Heisman Trophy is a fraud and a bore," Cosell said. "Some of the greatest players in college history never got one vote."

Cosell mentioned the Southwestern Athletic Conference with teams such as Grambling, Morgan State, Prairie View, Arkansas A&M, "where 22 per cent of all the NFL players today come from. Those players don't get one vote for the Heisman Trophy."

Of the 1040 players on the pre-season National Football League roster, only 75 or a 28.23.

"The varied and interesting program for both horsemen and spectators should make it a banner year for us," said Joan Avallone, publicity chairman. The schedule:

Ulster County Athletic League football champion Highland High School was sixth in the final New York State Sportswriters Association small school poll, announced today by Neil Kerr of the Syracuse Post-Standard.

The Big Blue of Coach Lem

Atkins won all nine of their games this season and stretched a two-year unbeaten string to 15, but couldn't get ahead of five other undefeated schools ahead of them.
Pleasantville at 8-0 was No. 1 followed by Salamanca, Clyde, Savannah, Cazenovia, and John Jay of Cross River.

UCAL runner-up Liberty was beat Kingston, 30-0, two weeks ago and White Plains Stepinac, 19-7, last week, was No. 2.
"Farmingdale deserves its No. 1 rating," claimed Kerr, the poll editor. "The squad is very physically strong at all positions and can hit with the best of them. However, for the record, it should be stated that other state leaders, such as White

Plains, Rochester Madison, Ithaca, North Rockland, Vestal, and the Nos. 7-8-9 teams from the Buffalo area are all capable of battling Farmingdale every bit as fiercely as No. 10 Berner. In fact, any one of the aforementioned teams is capable of beating Farmingdale. It is that close.

Farrell's four-year hot streak is the best in the state. Other top win skeins are Ithaca (25-0), Seton Hall of Patchogue (23-0), John Jay of Cross River (20-1), North Rockland (18), Pleasantville and Lewiston-Porter (17), and Highland (15).

Peekskill (7-2), Port Chester (7-2), Port Washington (7-1), Potsdam (6-0), Poughkeepsie O.L.O. Arizona State Jolts USC, 95-78

By ALEX SACHARE
Associated Press Sports Writer
"I'm not concerned whether we look good or bad," declared Maryland basketball coach Lefty Driesell, "only whether we win or lose."

Driesell's Terps, ranked sixth in The Associated Press preseason poll, looked something less than good against Brown Wednesday night, but did manage to defeat the Bruins 100-83 in one of the key games on the opening night of the 1971-72 college basketball season.

In the night's major upset, third-ranked Southern Cal., which lost only two games—both to UCLA—last year, fell before unranked Arizona State 95-78 at Tempe, Ariz.

"The young players were probably a little bit tight," conceded Driesell, speaking about his sophomore-studded line-up.

One of those youngsters, heralded sophomore Tom McMillen, scored 16 points and grabbed 10 rebounds, but was not overjoyed by his performance.

"I wasn't very nervous, but I became a little frustrated," the 6-foot-11, former Pennsylvania high school star said. "It seems like I always have a game like that, my first game of the year."

Southern Cal. considered a threat to dethrone UCLA as Pacific 8—and NCAA—champions, began into a sizzling shooting performance by the Sun Devils. Arizona State sank 50 per cent of its field goal attempts, with Rhea Taylor scoring 22 and Bill 97-67 triumph over Kings Col.

Marquette proved too much for little St. John's, Minn. Jim Chones, the Warrior's pivot-man, scored 24 points, grabbed 17 rebounds and blocked six shots, prompting raves from his coach, Al McGuire.

Luke Witte, Ohio State's 7-footer, poured in 20 points and grabbed 13 rebounds to spark the Buckeyes. Guard Dan Gerhard added 16.

Houston started slowly against Stanford, leading only 39-36 early in the second half, but then came on to pull away from the Indians.

Florida's Jerry Hoover sank two free throws with 13 seconds left to give the Gators their upset. Tony Miller of Florida was high scorer with 29.

Adolph Rupp got victory No. 659 of his coaching career as 6-11 junior Jim Andrews scored 37 points to power Kentucky over Northwestern. Forward Barry Moran scored 32 for the losers.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The Colossus of Rhodes, one of the seven wonders of the ancient world, was a huge bronze statue of the Greek sun god Helios, erected on a promontory overlooking the harbor of Rhodes. The World Almanac says that the statue was approximately the size of the Statue of Liberty, and was toppled by an earthquake about 224 B.C.

We have this nightmare, see... we're loaded with yule packages and can't get out of a revolving door...

No, Gwendolyn, the fellow wishing for snow for Christmas hasn't got a habit he needs to kick.

The boss wouldn't be so irritable if he kept his mind off business, like the rest of us.

Of course, we love our work—that's why we handle it as little as possible, so it won't break.

Half a loaf is better than working all day.

Seen the Office Loafer doll? Wind it up and it does absolutely nothing.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

SYMPATHY? (Q.) I have been seeing Les four months and have fallen in love with him. Just recently, though he came up with this idea to date my closest friend because she had never had a date before and he kind of felt sorry for her.

Knowing that he is dating her as well as me is killing me. When I say anything about it he says he and she are just friends but that he and I have more of a relationship. I am afraid he is falling out of love with me and in love with her. What can I do to stop him?—Help (!) in California.

(A.) Les's project sounds to me like a little more than a gesture of sympathy.

But you must realize that so long as you and he are not going steady he can date whomever he pleases, including your girl friend. This right to date others extends to you, too. Dating someone else a few times might help revive Les's interest in you.

FRIGHTENED: (Q.) I have tried baby-sitting twice. Each time I got scared. I tried reading and watching TV and working crossword puzzles, but I was still scared.

What should I do to be scared? I am 12.—Worried in North Carolina.

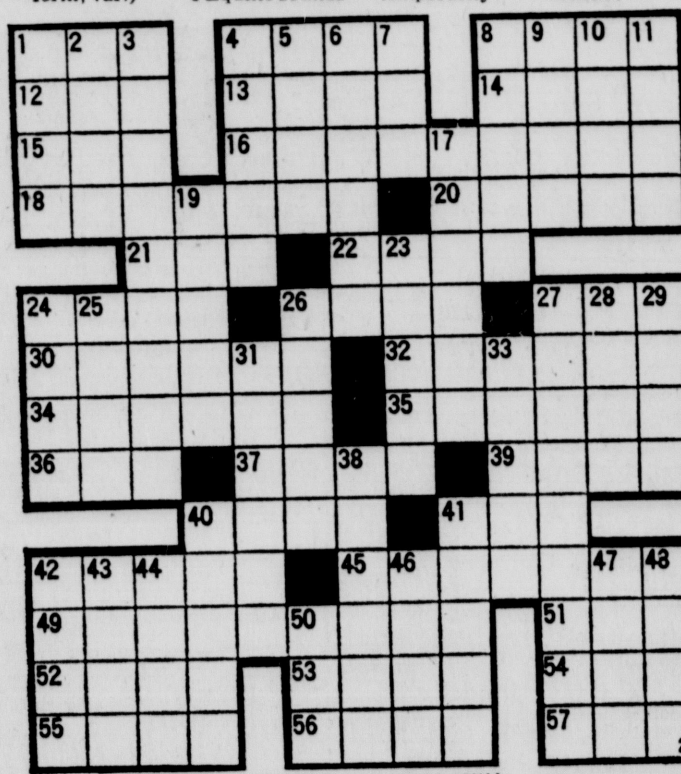

(A.) A girl who is afraid to be alone should not baby-sit. It is not good for her or for the children she sits with.

You are quite young to be baby-sitting alone. Wait a year or two and try again.

'All the Way Home'...Skillful

NEW YORK (AP) — Tad Mo-sel's 11-year-old play, "All The Way Home," was given a poignant, skillful production
Wednesday night on NBC.

As usual with "Hall of Fame" programs, it was a meticulous and handsomely mounted production. Also as usual, it was beautifully acted.
The cast was headed by Joanne Woodward, Richard Kiley and an extraordinary young boy named Shane Nickerson.

The play was an account of a family's reaction when the husband and father was killed in an auto accident, and it concentrated on the wife and 6-year-old son.

The principals—husband, wife and child—were introduced in a situation that led to a difference of opinion, which was revealing of their life together.
They obviously loved each other deeply, but he had conquered an alcohol problem and the wife was extremely religious. This was followed by a scene when they and other members of their family—aged parents and an obnoxious brother—visited his 103-year-old grandmother, all to set up further family relationships.

Jay went off to his death the following day. Joanne Woodward, as the wife was excellent and her shock and hysteria as a widow was impressive.
Richard Kiley made the husband a quixotic character. Pat Hingle's loudmouth brother was a solid study. The boy was utterly appealing and convincing.
Something vital, however, was missing—lost undoubtedly in reducing a full-length play to 90 minutes including the commercials. The viewer did not have quite enough time to understand Jay—a mixture of warmth and affection plus something of a loner. At any rate, his death was less affecting than it was in the play.

NBC's Board of Directors has elected David C. Adams as its chairman effective the first of the year. Retiring Chairman

Walter D. Scott, who has been with NBC and its parent RCA for 33 years, will continue as a director.

Adams, an attorney, has been with the network since 1947 and for the past two years has Jo Jones, served as executive vice president.

Nielsen ratings for the week ending Nov. 21 put CBS' "All in the Family" in first place, followed by ABC's "Movie of the Week," a film about troubled teen-agers, "Mr. and Mrs. Bo Jones," starring Desi Arnaz and "Marcus Welby, M.D." was third.

South's four no-trump call was Blackwood. It also violated almost every principle of Blackwood. South was void of hearts and you shouldn't use Blackwood with a void. South had a worthless doubleton in clubs and you shouldn't use Blackwood with a worthless doubleton.

In addition, South intended to play in diamonds and it is poor policy to use Blackwood before you have established your suit.

South knew he was violating all these principles but there was method in it. Madness. It was the seventh and last hand of a Swiss team match and rightly or wrongly South felt that drastic action was necessary.

We hate to record success for this type of bid, but South came out with a 13-IMP swing that won the match.

North jumped to six hearts in response to the four no-trump call. North's bid showed two South liked this reprieve and went to seven diamonds. When North went into a long huddle, South became apprehensive. Finally North did pass.

South breathed easier now. He had no trouble making the grand slam. Thirteen tricks were made at the other table, but the contract was only six diamonds.

U.S. May Consider Dollar Devaluation

ROME (AP) — Finance ministers from the non-Communist world's richest nations, the Group of Ten, achieved a major breakthrough here toward resolving the international monetary crisis, delegation sources reported today.

For the first time in the 3½ months of deadlock, the United States showed it is prepared to consider devaluing the dollar.

The three-day conference, which ended Wednesday night, agreed to continue the discussions in Washington Dec. 17-18. But the real significance of the Rome meeting, by most of the official accounts, was a major shift in the U.S. negotiating stand. As a result, the shoe is now on the other foot.

Before the Rome meeting, America's major trading partners were putting all the pressure on the United States to say what it would contribute to a settlement package. The Europeans and the Japanese demanded a dollar devaluation against gold as part of a general currency realignment.

The Americans turned the question around here. They asked the others what they would do if the United States did devalue the dollar. How far would they revalue their currencies upward and what trade restrictions would they remove in return? The same questions will be on the table in Washington.

All the discussions were hypothetical. No one made any commitments. But for the first time, specific figures were thrown out to test reactions. The possibility, and only the possibility, of a dollar devaluation was raised.

U.S. Treasury Secretary John B. Connally dramatized the shift in American bargaining tactics during these probings.

At one point, authoritative sources said, he asked the other United States devalued the dollar 10 per cent. The reaction was stunned silence. The meeting broke up for an hour and 40 minutes.

Throughout the impasse Connally had been the symbol of an absolute American refusal to consider devaluing the dollar by raising the official price of gold, now $35 an ounce.

Connally's mention of a 10 per cent devaluation, was not a serious offer. But it demonstrated that the Americans had opened the negotiations to a wide range of possibilities that had been blocked before.

Gunman Is Wounded By British Troops

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI)—British troops shot a gunman in Londonderry today. In Belfast, thousands of Northern Ireland families invited British soldiers to spend Christmas with them, an army spokesman said.

An army spokesman said soldiers wounded the gunman when a car pulled out of the Roman Catholic Bogside area of Londonderry, screeched past an army roadblock then reversed in an attempt to run the soldier who flagged down the vehicle.

Troops at the roadblock fired rubber bullets at the reversing car and smashed the rear window. A soldier fired two shots into the car when a gun barrel poked through the jagged edges of the smashed car window and a passenger slumped forward, the spokesman said.

The Belfast spokesman said Northern Ireland families "by the thousands" have invited British soldiers to spend Christmas holidays in their homes.

"It's a terribly difficult question from a security point of view," he said. "We don't know even what the situation will be like at Christmas. But the invitations have been coming in by the thousands."

He said there was "no way of telling" whether the invitations were coming from both Protestant and Roman Catholic families. "I would not want even to attempt a comment on that," he said.

His statement came only hours after the government of Northern Ireland and its arch-enemy, the Irish Republican Army (IRA), rejected any suggestion of a Yule truce in their continuing conflict over the six-county British province.

The IRA, which seeks to separate Northern Ireland from Britain and unite it with the predominantly Roman Catholic Irish Republic, underscored its no truce stand Wednesday night with a chain of bomb attacks in Londonderry, an army spokesman said.

Four bombs went off within minutes of each other in the shadow of the city's centuries-old walls on the fringe of the Roman Catholic Bogside area. Three civilians sustained slight injuries.

Army sources said that military was apprehensive over soldiers visiting private homes for Christmas because of consistent hostility shown the troops, especially by minority Catholics.

Income Proposal Is Made

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A delegates. Eventually it will reach Nixon's desk. The President addressed the conference of 3,500 delegates to day.

The conference report recommending a guaranteed income also proposed earmarking at least 11 per cent of all federal report Wednesday by 390 black reducing by seven years a black male's eligible age for social security benefits.

"The jeopardizing status of being black and old and poor must be removed as quickly as possible," the report said.

It did not say how the income guarantee should be made available.

However, a resolution from the 140-member Massachusetts delegation said income benefits should become the responsibility of the Social Security Administration and that regulations governing the benefit should be subject to review by a government aging unit agreed on by the President and the Congress.

provide services for keeping the elderly in their own homes or other residences and out of substandard nursing homes and institutions.

No federal funds, and only minimal federal staff assistance would be involved.

Conferees Grapple On Campaign Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — House and Senate conferees grapple today with a controversial provision to finance presidential campaigns with federal income taxes, the only remaining issue in a battle between President Nixon and Democratic leaders over a tax bill.

In a day-long session Wednesday, the conference resolved all other differences between House and Senate versions of the legislation, stripping it of tax-relief amendments Nixon said were unacceptable.

The President threatened to veto the bill if it reaches him containing a provision allowing individuals to earmark $1 of their income taxes for presidential election expenses.

All parties would share the funds, but the financially strapped Democrats need them the most.

Despite the White House threats, Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, House Appropriations Committee chairman and head of the House conferees, says the Democrats will hold fast on the check-off provision.

Mills told the Capital City Democratic Club Wednesday he doesn't think Nixon will veto the bill because it is a main part of his new economic program and another tax bill would face a rocky road.

Mills said, however, Nixon "sometimes does what others do not dare to do," and added: "He'll have the opportunity of passing judgment."

In earlier sessions, the conferees scaled down the tax-relief provisions to a level they believe the administration will accept. On Wednesday the committee:

—Discarded provisions authorizing the President to impose quotas, a surcharge of 15 per cent or other import restrictions to protect the balance of trade.

—Approved a compromise version of authorizing tax breaks to exporters. Half their income from exports would get the favored treatment.

—Dropped a provision for special unemployment benefits in areas of high joblessness.

—Approved a tax credit for employers hiring welfare recipients participating in the Work Incentive Program.
